The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall Andrew Garrett,2023-12-12 A critical examination of the complex legacies of early Californian anthropology and linguistics for twenty first century communities In January 2021 at a time when many institutions were reevaluating fraught histories the University of California removed anthropologist and linguist Alfred Kroeber's name from a building on its Berkeley campus Critics accused Kroeber of racist and dehumanizing practices that harmed Indigenous people university leaders repudiated his values In The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall Andrew Garrett examines Kroeber's work in the early twentieth century and his legacy today asking how a vigorous opponent of racism and advocate for Indigenous rights in his own era became a symbol of his university's failed relationships with Native communities Garrett argues that Kroeber's most important work has been overlooked his collaborations with Indigenous people throughout California to record their languages and stories The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall offers new perspectives on the early practice of anthropology and linguistics and on its significance today and in the future Kroeber's documentation was broader and more collaborative and multifaceted than is usually recognized As a result the records Indigenous people created while working with him are relevant throughout California as communities revive languages names songs and stories Garrett asks readers to consider these legacies arguing that the University of California chose to reject critical self examination when it unnamed Kroeber Hall

Friedrich Max Müller and the Sacred Books of the East Arie L. Molendijk,2016-07-21 This volume offers a critical analysis of one the most ambitious editorial projects of late Victorian Britain the edition of the fifty substantial volumes of the Sacred Books of the East 1879 1910 The series was edited and conceptualized by Friedrich Max Müller 1823 1900 a world famous German born philologist orientalist and religious scholar Müller and his influential Oxford colleagues

Kant's Transcendental Psychology Patricia Kitcher, 1990 For the last 100 years historians have denigrated the psychology of the Critique of Pure Reason In opposition Patricia Kitcher argues that we can only understand the deduction of the categories in terms of Kant's attempt to fathom the psychological prerequisites of thought and that this investigation illuminates thinking itself Kant tried to understand the task environment of knowledge and thought Given the data we acquire and the scientific generalizations we make what basic cognitive capacities are necessary to perform these feats What do these capacities imply about the inevitable structure of our knowledge Kitcher specifically considers Kant's claims about the unity of the thinking self the spatial forms of human perceptions the relations among mental states necessary for them to have content the relations between perceptions and judgment the malleability essential to empirical concepts the structure of empirical concepts required for inductive inference and the limits of philosophical insight into psychological processes

The Sacrament of Confession as a William Schmitt, 2001 Adrienne von Speyr in her book Confession and throughout her writings speaks of the confession of Jesus Christ This is a startling use of the term because Christ never sinned The author examines all the writings of von Speyr in the light of Roman Catholic soteriology and sacramental theology and in view of the influences that existed between her and Hans Urs von Balthasar The author then shows how the theme of confession is central to von Speyr's writing aids in illuminating her theology of Holy Saturday and the Paschal Mystery and serves as the basis for the renewal of the sacrament of confession

Sage,2009 A Dubious Science tells the story of nineteenth century French political economy an academic discipline that aspired to the status and authority of a hard science alongside such disciplines as physics and chemistry It chronicles political economists encounter with the social question all those unexpected social consequences of nineteenth century industrialization which offered concrete evidence that industrial capitalism showed few signs of guaranteeing happiness and economic success to all productive members of society The social question forced economists to admit that their theoretical assumptions were not working in practice the way they were supposed to in theory and to confront the possibility that their science might be less certain than they had believed This book explores the relationship between the unexpected socio economic realities of an industrializing society and the disciplinary formation and self protection of an aspiring human science and it links political economy s aspirations to governmentality that peculiarly modern type of power explored by Michel Foucault Like other dubious human sciences during the nineteenth century French political economy was embroiled in a network of interventionist strategies administered both from inside and outside the state designed to produce docile bodies obedient souls and a content and productive population A Dubious Science should prove valuable in courses on economic thought and its history the history of the human sciences the history and sociology of the professions as well as the broader history of European industrialization and its consequences

Antarctica, Art and Archive Polly Gould,2020-12-10 Antarctica that icy wasteland and extreme environment at the ends of the earth was at the beginning of the 20th century the last frontier of Victorian imperialism a territory subjected to heroic and sometimes desperate exploration Now at the start of the 21st century Antarctica is the vulnerable landscape behind iconic images of climate change In this genre crossing narrative Gould takes us on a journey to the South Pole through art and archive Through the life and tragic death of Edward Wilson polar explorer doctor scientist and artist and his watercolours and through the work of a pioneer of modern anthropology and opponent of scientific racism Franz Boas Gould exposes the legacies of colonialism and racial and gendered identities of the time Antarctica the White Continent far from being a blank and white canvas is revealed to be full of colour Gould argues that the medium matters and that the practices of observation in art anthropology and science determine how we see and what we know Stories of exploration and open air watercolour painting of weather experiments and ethnographic collecting of evolution and extinction are interwoven to raise important questions for our times Revisiting Antarctica through the archive becomes the urgent endeavour to imagine an inhabitable planetary future Between Worlds Lindsey Büster,Eugène Warmenbol,Dimitrij Mlekuž,2018-12-18 The recent resurgence of academic interest in caves has demonstrated the central roles they played as arenas for ritual ceremony and performance and their importance within later prehistoric cosmologies Caves represent very particular types of archaeological site and require novel approaches to their recording interpretation and presentation This is especially true in understanding the ritual use of caves when the less tangible aspects of these environments would have been fundamental to the practices taking place within them Between Worlds explores new theoretical frameworks that examine the agency of these enduring natural places and the complex interplay between environment taphonomy and human activity It also showcases the application of innovative technologies such as 3D laser scanning and acoustic modelling which provide new and exciting ways of capturing the experiential qualities of these enigmatic sites Together these developments offer more nuanced understandings of the role of caves in prehistoric ritual and allow for more effective communication management and presentation of cave archaeology to a wide range of audiences Anthropology and Nursing Pat Holden,Jenny Littlewood,2015-07-03 Nursing has been described as the most natural female occupation of all embodying the so called feminine ideals of tenderness and caring Yet these ideals are juxtaposed with images of nurses as sex objects or as ruthlessly efficient harridans How have these very different images been constructed And how do they relate to the reality of nursing the close contact with blood urine and faeces and the involvement with the rites of birth illness and death This book first published in 1991 explores the alternative ways different societies have developed to reconcile these contradictions Using contemporary historical and cross cultural case material the contributors trace the historical development of the role and investigate the expected qualities of nurses within different cultural settings such as India Uganda and Japan They look closely at the nurse as a social construct and demonstrate how the stereotypes relate to a particular society s notions of gender Designed primarily for anthropologists and sociologists interested in health illness and systems of health care this book challenges some of the myths of traditional nursing studies and provides an original perspective on doctor nurse patient relationships The SAGE Handbook of Qualitative Research Norman K. Denzin,Yvonna S. Lincoln,Michael D. Giardina,Gaile S. emerald,2016-09-07 This book directly addresses the multiplicity and complexity of narrative research by illustrating a variety of avenues to pursuing and publishing research that falls under the umbrella of narrative work The chapters are drawn from a wide range of disciplines including education literary studies cultural studies music and clinical studies Each chapter considers a particular methodological issue or approach illustrating how it was addressed in the course of the research Each of the chapters concludes with a set of discussion exercises and a further reading list The book offers a valuable resource for established researchers seeking to expand their methodological and theoretical repertoire and for graduate students and researchers new to narrative methods
