FairPoint strikers to start voting on new contract

FairPoint employees will begin voting on a new contract with the company on Monday. The union, which represents about 1,000 workers, has been in a contract dispute with the company since 2008. The new contract would provide for a 3 percent wage increase over the next three years, as well as other benefits. The union is seeking a 5 percent increase, but the company has offered 3 percent. The vote will be held on Monday, and the results will be announced on Tuesday.

Data policy at UMaine was violated by professor

A professor at the University of Maine has been accused of violating the university's data policy. The professor, who is a member of the faculty, is alleged to have accessed and used university data for personal purposes. The university's data policy states that all data belonging to the university must be used in accordance with the policy. The professor's actions are considered a violation of this policy. The university is currently investigating the matter and may take disciplinary action if the allegations are proven true.

Let's go, goes governor group that pushes off-shore drilling

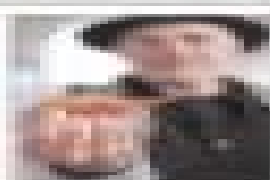

A group of people, including Governor John Bel Edwards, have formed a group called "Let's Go, Goes" to promote off-shore drilling. The group is made up of people who support off-shore drilling and want to see it expanded. The group is currently working to raise money and promote the group's message. The group is also planning to hold a rally in the near future. The group's goal is to get off-shore drilling approved by the federal government.

"Sample" harvest of shrimp makes big splash at market

A "sample" harvest of shrimp made a big splash at the market. The shrimp, which were harvested from a small area, were sold at a high price. The market was crowded with people looking to buy the shrimp. The shrimp were sold in small containers, and the price was significantly higher than the price of other seafood products. The market was a success, and the shrimp were sold out quickly.
