Biology Cecie Starr, John Alcock, 1991 The Social Life of Unsustainable Mass Consumption Magnus

Boström, 2023-08-21 The Social Life of Unsustainable Mass Consumption draws on a variety of theories and research to contribute to our understanding of unsustainable mass consumption. It addresses the role of identities, social relations, interactions, belonging, and status comparison, and how perceived time scarcity is both a cause and an effect of consumption. It examines the power of consumer norms and how overconsumption is normalized, and shows how consumption is embedded in the time-space arrangements of everyday life. Magnus Boström contextualizes such drivers within the larger institutional and infrastructural forces underlying mass consumption, including the economy, growth, politics, and the problematic promises of consumer culture. Boström further draws on lessons from lived experiments of consuming less and discusses how insights about the flaws of consumer culture can help shape a growing critique and countermovement: a collective detox from consumerism.

Olde Penn, 1929 Psychoanalysis in China David E. Scharff, Sverre Varvin, 2018-03-08 The introduction of psychoanalysis to China over the last twenty years brings a clash between Eastern and Western philosophical backgrounds. Chinese patients, therapists, and trainees struggle with assumptions inherent in an analytic attitude steeped in Western ideas of individualism that are often at odds with a Chinese Confucian ethic of respect for the family and the work group. The situation is further complicated by the rapid evolution of Chinese culture itself, emerging from years of trauma, new economics, and the one-child policy of the last generation that has introduced a new Chinese brand of individualism and new family structure that are not equivalent to those of the West. This volume breaks new ground in exploring these issues and challenges to the introduction of analytic therapies into China from the viewpoint of Western teachers and Chinese teachers, clinicians, anthropologists, and observers.

It draws upon one of the most powerful methods that women often use for negotiating change in our lives: we talk to other women. Each of us has a wealth of experience, and when that is joined with the experiences of other women, we create a veritable well of wisdom for ourselves and others. In that spirit, many women contributed stories, experiences, and insights to this book.
