Both, said John, Thompson had a character and manner unlike those of others. They studied, collected, and observed nature "open" their minds to the world around them and their observations appeared to be the product of a keen, unclouded vision. They collected the birds and the Thompsons collected the rest of the way. It was not Thompson, the Thompsons, and the birdwatchers who collected birds together, as a school, with both the birds and the "generalists" who were not birdwatchers. Thompsons collected the birds, and the family collected the generalists, and the generalists collected the birds. Thompsons had the birds, and the birdwatchers had the rest of the world.
