Paris Spleen Charles Baudelaire, 2013-03-30 One of the founding texts of literary modernism Set in a modern urban Paris the prose pieces in this volume constitute a further exploration of the terrain Baudelaire had covered in his verse masterpiece The Flowers of Evil the city and its squalor and inequalities the pressures of time and mortality and the liberation provided by the sensual delights of intoxication art and women Published posthumously in 1869 Paris Spleen was a landmark publication in the development of the genre of prose poetry a format which Baudelaire saw as particularly suited for expressing the feelings of uncertainty flux and freedom of his age and one of the founding texts of literary modernism Flowers of Evil Charles Baudelaire, 2013-02-20. Baudelaire's Fleurs du Mal, which in successive editions contained all of his published poems, has opened new vistas for man's imagination and quickened the sensibilities of poets everywhere. The greatest French poet of the 19th century, Baudelaire was also the first truly modern poet, and his direct and indirect influence on the literature of our time has been immeasurable. Flowers of Evil: A Selection contains 53 poems which the editors feel best represent the total work and which in their opinion have been most successfully rendered into English. The French texts, as established by Yves G. rard Le Dantec for the Pl iade edition, are printed en face. Included are Baudelaire's Three Drafts of a Preface and brief notes on the nineteen translators whose work is represented.

The National union catalog, 1968-1972, 1973. Play Among Books Miro Roman, Alice _ch3n81, 2021-12-06. How does coding change the way we think about architecture? This question opens up an important research perspective. In this book, Miro Roman and his AI, Alice_ch3n81, develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information. They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books. Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation, the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science.

Giving the Devil His Due Jessica Hooten Wilson, 2017-02-28. Flannery O'Connor and Fyodor Dostoevsky shared a deep faith in Christ which compelled them to tell stories that force readers to choose between eternal life and demonic possession. Their either/or extremism has not become more popular in the last fifty to a hundred years since these stories were first published, but it has become more relevant to a twenty-first century culture in which the lukewarm middle ground seems the most comfortable place to dwell. Giving the Devil His Due walks through all of O'Connor's stories and looks closely at Dostoevsky's magnum opus, The Brothers Karamazov, to show that when the devil rules, all hell breaks loose. Instead of this kingdom of violence, O'Connor and Dostoevsky propose a kingdom of love, one that is only possible when the Lord again is king.

Edinburgh Companion to Animal Studies Lynn Turner, 2018-03-07. This volume critically investigates current topics and disciplines that are affected, enriched, or put into dispute by the burgeoning scholarship on Animal Studies.

The National Union Catalogs, 1963-, 1964. The Artist and Political Vision Benjamin R. Barber, Michael J. Gargas, McGrath. Art and politics are often regarded as denizens of different realms, but few artists have been comfortable with the notion of a purely aesthetic definition of art. The artist has a public and thus political vision of the world, interpreted by his art, no less than the statesman and the legislator. Each has a creative vision of the world they wish to make. The sixteen original essays in this volume bear eloquent witness to this interpenetration of art and politics. Each confronts the intersection of the aesthetic and the social, each is concerned with the interface of poetic vision and political vision of reflection and action They take art in the broadest sense ranging over poets dramatists novelists essayists and filmmakers Their focus is on art and its political dilemmas not simply on the artist They consider the issues raised for politics and culture by alienation violence modernization technology democracy progress and revolution And they debate the capacity of art to stimulate social change and incite revolution the temptations of social control of culture and of political censorship the uncertain relationship between art and history the impact of economic structure on artistic creation and of economic class on artistic product the common ground between art and legislation and between creativity and control
