Polymer Science: A Comprehensive Reference, 2012-12-05 The progress in polymer science is revealed in the chapters of Polymer Science A Comprehensive Reference Ten Volume Set In Volume 1 this is reflected in the improved understanding of the properties of polymers in solution in bulk and in confined situations such as in thin films Volume 2 addresses new characterization techniques such as high resolution optical microscopy scanning probe microscopy and other procedures for surface and interface characterization Volume 3 presents the great progress achieved in precise synthetic polymerization techniques for vinyl monomers to control macromolecular architecture the development of metallocene and post metallocene catalysis for olefin polymerization new ionic polymerization procedures and atom transfer radical polymerization nitroxide mediated polymerization and reversible addition fragmentation chain transfer systems as the most often used controlled living radical polymerization methods Volume 4 is devoted to kinetics mechanisms and applications of ring opening polymerization of heterocyclic monomers and cycloolefins ROMP as well as to various less common polymerization techniques Polycondensation and non chain polymerizations including dendrimer synthesis and various click procedures are covered in Volume 5 Volume 6 focuses on several aspects of controlled macromolecular architectures and soft nano objects including hybrids and bioconjugates Many of the achievements would have not been possible without new characterization techniques like AFM that allowed direct imaging of single molecules and nano objects with a precision available only recently An entirely new aspect in polymer science is based on the combination of bottom up methods such as polymer synthesis and molecularly programmed self assembly with top down structuring such as lithography and surface templating as presented in Volume 7 It encompasses polymer and nanoparticle assembly in bulk and under confined conditions or influenced by an external field including thin films inorganic organic hybrids or nanofibers Volume 8 expands these concepts focusing on applications in advanced technologies e.g. in electronic industry and centers on combination with top down approach and functional properties like conductivity Another type of functionality that is of rapidly increasing importance in polymer science is introduced in volume 9 It deals with various aspects of polymers in biology and medicine including the response of living cells and tissue to the contact with biofunctional particles and surfaces The last volume is devoted to the scope and potential provided by environmentally benign and green polymers as well as energy related polymers They discuss new technologies needed for a sustainable economy in our world of limited resources Provides broad and in depth coverage of all aspects of polymer science from synthesis polymerization properties and characterization methods and techniques to nanostructures sustainability and energy and biomedical uses of polymers Provides a definitive source for those entering or researching in this area by integrating the multidisciplinary aspects of the science into one unique up to date reference work Electronic version has complete cross referencing and multi media components Volume editors are world experts in their field including a Nobel Prize winner Industry and Product Classification Manual Industry and Product Classification Manual United States. Nijenhuis, Kathy Steele, 2014-09-02 Life is an ongoing struggle for patients who have been chronically traumatized They typically have a wide array of symptoms often classified under different combinations of comorbidity which can make assessment and treatment complicated and confusing for the therapist Many patients have substantial problems with daily living and relationships including serious intrapsychic conflicts and maladaptive coping strategies Their suffering essentially relates to a terrifying and painful past that haunts them Even when survivors attempt to hide their distress beneath a facade of normality a common strategy therapists often feel besieged by their many symptoms and serious pain Small wonder that many survivors of chronic traumatization have seen several therapists with little if any gains and that guite a few have been labeled as untreatable or resistant In this book three leading researchers and clinicians share what they have learned from treating and studying chronically traumatized individuals across more than 65 years of collective experience Based on the theory of structural dissociation of the personality in combination with a Janetian psychology of action the authors have developed a model of phase oriented treatment that focuses on the identification and treatment of structural dissociation and related maladaptive mental and behavioral actions The foundation of this approach is to support patients in learning more effective mental and behavioral actions that will enable them to become more adaptive in life and to resolve their structural dissociation This principle implies an overall therapeutic goal of raising the integrative capacity in order to cope with the demands of daily life and deal with the haunting remnants of the past with the unfinished business of traumatic memories Of interest to clinicians students of clinical psychology and psychiatry as well as to researchers all those interested in adult survivors of chronic child abuse and neglect will find helpful insights and tools that may make the treatment more effective and efficient and more tolerable for the suffering patient Haunted Self Onno van der Hart, Ellert R Nijenhuis, K Steele, 2006-10-17 Life is an ongoing struggle for patients who have been chronically traumatized They typically have a wide array of symptoms often classified under different combinations of comorbidity which can make assessment and treatment complicated and confusing for the therapist Many patients have substantial problems with daily living and relationships including serious intrapsychic conflicts and maladaptive coping strategies Their suffering essentially relates to a terrifying and painful past that haunts them Even when survivors attempt to hide their distress beneath a facade of normality a common strategy therapists often feel besieged by their many symptoms and serious pain Small wonder that many survivors of chronic traumatization have seen several therapists with little if any gains and that
