

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE (UK)

Divisions

Members of both Houses register their vote for or against issues by physically going into two different areas either side of their debating chambers. This is known as 'dividing the House', while the areas concerned are 'division lobbies'. Therefore, a vote is called a 'division'.

Votes

When a vote is held the Speaker in the Commons - or Lord Speaker in the Lords - asks Members to call out whether they agree or not. The Speaker will then judge whether there is a clear result. If this cannot be determined, the Speaker or Lord Speaker calls a division by announcing 'clear the lobbies' (in the Commons) or 'clear the bar' (in the Lords).

When can a division take place?

Divisions can take place at almost any time that the House is sitting. Divisions usually happen at the regular 'moment of interruption' of the main business of the House of Commons, which is 22.40 on Mondays, 19.40 on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, 17.40 on Thursdays and 14.30 on Fridays, but divisions can and do take place later - or earlier - than these times.

Division bells

Members do not have to participate in a debate to be able to vote, and may be elsewhere in the Parliamentary estate. To notify Members that a division is taking place, division bells located throughout the Parliamentary estate and surrounding premises ring and TV screens with a special text feed (called the 'information service') display that a division is taking place. There are different division bells for the Commons and Lords, and Members only vote in the divisions specific to their House. When the division bells ring Members have eight minutes to vote before the doors to the division lobbies are locked.

Division lobbies

During a division, Members literally divide into two separate areas. These are called the Aye and No lobbies in the Commons and the Contents and Not Contents lobbies in the Lords. As they pass through the lobbies, the Members have their names recorded by clerks and are counted by tellers. Once the lobbies are empty the Speaker (Commons) or the Lord Speaker (Lords) announces the result of the division. The whole process takes about fifteen minutes.

Tied votes

If the vote is tied - which is very unusual - in the Commons the Speaker has the casting vote. The Speaker casts his vote according to what was done in similar circumstances in the past. Where possible the issue should remain open for further discussion and no final decision should be made by a casting vote. In the Lords, the Lord Speaker does not have a casting vote. Instead, the tied vote is resolved according to established rules (called the Standing Orders).

Deferred divisions

In the Commons, MPs can vote on a series of motions using ballot papers at a convenient time (currently from 12.30pm on Thursdays) instead of holding divisions immediately at the end of a debate. These are known as deferred divisions.

The Law-Making Process Michael Zander,2015-03-26 As a critical analysis of the law making process this book has no equal For more than three decades it has filled a gap in the requirements of students in law or political science taking introductory courses on the legal system and is now in its 7th edition It deals with every aspect of the law making process the preparation of legislation its passage through Parliament statutory interpretation binding precedent how precedent works law reporting the nature of the judicial role European Union law and the process of law reform It presents a large number of original texts from a variety of sources cases official reports articles books speeches and empirical research studies laced with the author's informed commentary and reflections on the subject. This book is a mine of information dealing with both the broad sweep of the subject and with all its detailed ramifications. In a crowded market place Zander's latest edition of The Law Making Process stands out like a beacon in the fog. Well chosen extracts from stimulating texts enable the neophyte student of the law making process in England and Wales to grapple with the issues of the hour with a forcefulness and insight we have long come to associate with the author. Highly recommended.

Professor Alan Paterson
Law making is important, fascinating and fun. This new edition of Michael Zander's stimulating book on law making brings that out. It takes account of the many developments since the 6th edition in 2004, ranging across the work of the Law Commission, parliamentary scrutiny of Bills, the relationship between our courts and the European Court of Human Rights, the EU and many other matters. Well chosen extracts and thought provoking commentary help law and politics students at every level to understand the raw material with which they work, and make more experienced practitioners and academics look afresh at topics we thought we understood. I recommend it highly.

Professor David Feldman
As counsel, judge and now cross bencher in the House of Lords, I have been taking part in the law making process for over fifty years. In explaining to me what I have been up to, Michael Zander, both informed and amused, not only does he deal in detail with every aspect of the law making process, but he has assembled a rich cornucopia of commentary from a wide variety of sources. He has shown a degree of self restraint in expressing his own views, though his use of an adverb made them pleasingly plain when he stated: 'On 3 October 2014 the Conservative Party published an 8 page document brazenly called Protecting Human Rights in the UK'. I commend this book to anyone who wishes to understand the far from simple way that law is made in this country.
