Agricultural Reform in Rwanda Chris Huggins, 2017-10-15 International observers have lauded Rwanda as an example of an African country taking control of its own development trajectory and as a market friendly destination for investment A key component of this narrative has been an ambitious programme of agricultural reform involving private firms NGOs and international charities The Rwandan government claims these reforms have been a resounding success tripling crop yields and helping to combat hunger Chris Huggins argues however that Rwanda's liberal modernising image sits poorly with the regime's continuing authoritarian tendencies Featuring in depth case studies of the effects of agricultural reform in three different regions and drawing on hundreds of interviews Huggins shows that the much vaunted liberalization of agriculture has in fact depended on the coercion of Rwandan farmers and in many cases has had a detrimental impact on their livelihoods With the Kagame regime now coming under increasing international scrutiny this work provides a timely look at the impact of market friendly authoritarianism in contemporary Africa making essential reading for students and scholars of development in the fields of sociology anthropology political science and economics The Economics of Climate Change Nicholas Herbert Stern, Great Britain. Reimagining God and Resacralisation Alexa Blonner, 2019-05-14 This book shows that widespread resacralisation has been taking place which is producing new ways of perceiving God and the divine. The last century has seen unmistakable changes in religious practices and the concept of spirituality right across the world. There was a broad expectation for much of the twentieth century that religious worldviews would eventually succumb to the challenge of secularist materialism but this process of secularisation has yet to occur as predicted. The book begins by contrasting theories of secularisation and resacralisation. Throughout the book conceptual threads or new religious themes related to this resacralisation are discussed in terms of three main categories: reimagining God's nature, substance and location; reimagining human value and purpose; and reimagining modes of redemption. Finally, the book considers how these threads are moving in various different directions and what the religious future might hold. This is a bold examination of contemporary spirituality that will appeal to academics and scholars of religious studies, new religious movements and the sociology of religion.
