Towards Democratic Development States in Southern Africa Kanyenze, Godfrey,Jauch, Herbert,2016-12-14 The dawn of the twenty first century heralded an apparent change of fortunes for most sub Saharan African economies with annual growth averaging over 5% for fifteen years However this was not accompanied by structural transformation poverty

food insecurity unemployment and inequality persist Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neoliberal economic policies it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state What steps if any do they need to take in order to become one The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa Botswana Namibia Zimbabwe Angola and Malawi Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development

Water and Soil in Holy Matrimony? Munyaradzi Mabeza, Christopher, 2017-02-10 This book is a biography based on a qualitative ethnographic study of adaptation to climate by Mr Zephaniah Phiri Maseko an award winning smallholder farmer from Zvishavane rural Zimbabwe Ethnographic data provides insight and lessons of Mr Phiri Maseko and other farmers practices for rethinking existing strategies for adaptation to climate change The concept of adaptation is probed in relationship to the closely related concepts of vulnerability resilience and innovation This study also explores the concept of conviviality and argues that Mr Phiri Maseko's adaptation to climate hinges on mediating barriers between local and exogenous knowledge systems. The book argues that Mr Phiri Maseko offered tangible adaptive climate strategies through his innovations that marry water and soil so that it won't elope and run off but raise a family on his plot. His agricultural practices are anchored on the Shona concept of hurudza: an exceptionally productive farmer. This book explores the concept and practices of hurudza to suggest that the latter-day hurudza commercial farmer as embodied by Mr Phiri Maseko offers an important set of resources for the development of climate adaptation strategies in the region. This study of smallholder farmers' adoption of innovations to climate highlights the complex interplay of multiple factors that act as barriers to uptake. Such interplay of multiple stressors increases the vulnerability of smallholders. The study concludes by arguing that in as much as the skewed colonial land policy impoverished the smallholder farmers, Mr Phiri Maseko nonetheless redefined himself as a latter-day hurudza and thus breaks free from the poverty cycle by conjuring ingenious ways of reducing vulnerability to climate. The book does not suggest that Mr Phiri Maseko's innovations offer a silver bullet solution to the insecure rural livelihoods of smallholder farmers; nevertheless, they are a source of hope in an environment of uncertainty. His steely tenacity in the face of a multi-stressor environment is to be treasured.

The Right to Food Guidelines, Democracy and Citizen Participation

Katharine S. E. Cresswell Riolo, 2016-11-10. It is now more than a decade since the Right to Food Guidelines were negotiated, agreed and adopted internationally by states. This book provides a review of its objectives and the extent of success of its implementation. The focus is on the first key guideline: Democracy, good governance, human rights and the rule of law, with an emphasis on civil society participation in global food governance. The five BRICS countries—Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa—are presented as case studies representing major emerging economies; they blur the line between the Global North and South and exhibit different levels of human rights realisation. The book first provides an overview of the right to adequate food, accountability and democracy and an introduction to the history of the development of the right to adequate food and the Right to Food Guidelines. It presents a historical synopsis of each of the BRICS states' experiences with the right to adequate food and an analysis of their related periodic reporting to the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, as well as a specific assessment of their progress in regard to the first guideline. The discussion then focuses on the effectiveness of the Right to Food Guidelines as both a policy-making and monitoring tool based on the analysis of the guidelines and the BRICS states.

The Thika Highway Improvement Project

Renard Teipelke, 2013-12-04. Theory and practice of high-capacity infrastructure projects are the major focus in the development of countries in the Global South. Aiming at a more fine-grained understanding of such projects, Renard Teipelke studies the Thika Highway Improvement Project (THIP) and its outcomes in the peri-urban Northern Nairobi Metropolitan Region. The THIP is a large transportation infrastructure project that expanded the dual carriageway Thika Road into an eight-lane highway from 2008 until 2012. Based on a strategic mix of methodological approaches such as interviews with experts in Kenya, literature research and field visits, the black box THIP is opened up In the empirical analysis the project s idea its design and its implementation are studied It is concluded that the project s outcomes are ambivalent partly living up to the expectations of THIP proponents but not resulting in shared benefits for all concerned stakeholders due to flaws in managing the development in this peri urban transport corridor area thereby fitting into the Kenyan context of politics and planning Social and Economic Rights in Theory and Practice Helena Alviar García,Karl Klare,Lucy A. Williams,2014-09-19 Since World War II a growing number of jurisdictions in both the developing and industrialized worlds have adopted progressive constitutions that guarantee social and economic rights SER in addition to political and civil rights Parallel developments have occurred at transnational level with the adoption of treaties that commit signatory states to respect and fulfil SER for their peoples This book is a product of the International Social and Economic Rights Project iSERP a global consortium of judges lawyers human rights advocates and legal academics who critically examine the effectiveness of SER law in promoting real change in people s lives The book addresses a range of practical political and legal questions under these headings with acute sensitivity to the racial cultural and gender implications of SER and the path breaking SER jurisprudence now emerging in the Global South The book brings together internationally renowned experts in the field of social and economic rights to discuss a range of rights controversies from both theoretical and practical perspectives Contributors of the book consider specific issues in the litigation and adjudication of SER cases from the differing standpoints of activists lawyers and adjudicators in order to identify and address the specific challenges facing the SER community This book will be of great use and interest to students and scholars of comparative constitutional law human rights public international law development studies and democratic political theory

Public Health, Disease and Development in Africa Ezekiel Kalipeni,Juliet Iwelunmor,Diana S.
