Diagram 9 illustrates the correct method for attaching the cable to the rear of the unit. Two workers in white protective suits are shown from behind, working on the rear of the unit. They are holding a long, thin, light-colored strip (likely a cable or hose) that runs along the top edge of the unit. A red prohibition sign (a circle with a diagonal line) is in the top right corner, indicating that a certain action is not allowed. A small inset box in the bottom left corner shows a top-down view of the same unit with the strip attached to its top edge.
