Struggling to Make the Grade: A Review of the Causes and Consequences of the Weak Outcomes of South Africa's Education System Mr.Montfort Mlachila,Tlhalefang Moeletsu,2019-03-01 While South Africa has made significant improvements in basic and tertiary education enrollment the country still suffers from significant challenges in the quality of educational achievement by almost any international metric The paper finds that money is clearly not the main issue since the South Africa s education budget is comparable to OECD countries as a percent of GDP and exceeds that of most peer sub Saharan African countries in per capita terms The main explanatory factors are complex and multifaceted and are associated with insufficient subject knowledge of some teachers history race language geographic location and socio economic status Low educational achievement contributes to low productivity growth and high levels of poverty unemployment and inequality Drawing on the literature the paper sketches some policy considerations to guide the debate on what works and what does not

The Future of Liberal Education Timothy Burns,Peter Lawler,2016-04-14 Liberal Education once the whole of American Higher Education has been displaced by technical training and career oriented majors But it has also suffered from the decline in genuine liberal learning found in humanities disciplines owing to specialization politicization and the adoption of new literary and psychological theories The social sciences too have arguably abandoned the kind of relentless and sometimes disturbing questioning that used to constitute the core of education In this compelling volume thirteen college educators describe in sparkling prose what liberal education is its place in a liberal democracy the very serious challenges it faces in the 21st century even from some of its alleged friends and why it is important to sustain and expand liberal education s place in American colleges and universities Proponents and critics of liberal education alike will benefit from these insightful essays This book was originally published as a special issue of Perspectives on Political Science

Education for All 2000-2015: Achievements and challenges

UNESCO,2015-04-08 Literaturverz S 414 459 Productivity in Higher Education Caroline M. Hoxby, Kevin

Stange,2020-01-10 How do the benefits of higher education compare with its costs and how does this comparison vary across individuals and institutions These questions are fundamental to quantifying the productivity of the education sector The studies in Productivity in Higher Education use rich and novel administrative data modern econometric methods and careful institutional analysis to explore productivity issues The authors examine the returns to undergraduate education differences in costs by major the productivity of for profit schools the productivity of various types of faculty and of outcomes the effects of online education on the higher education market and the ways in which the productivity of different institutions responds to market forces The analyses recognize five key challenges to assessing productivity in higher education the potential for multiple student outcomes in terms of skills earnings invention and employment the fact that colleges and universities are multiproduct firms that conduct varied activities across many domains the fact that students select which school to attend based in part on their aptitude the difficulty of attributing outcomes to individual institutions when students attend more than one and the possibility that some of the benefits of higher education may arise from the system as a whole rather than from a single institution The findings and the approaches illustrated can facilitate decision making processes in higher education
