Lewis Sage-Passant, Scholars have long viewed intelligence as the preserve of nation states Where the term private sector intelligence is used the focus has been overwhelmingly on government contractors As such a crucial aspect of intelligence power has been overlooked the use of intelligence by corporations to navigate and influence the world Where there has been academic scrutiny of the field it is seen as a post 9 11 phenomenon and that a state monopoly of intelligence has been eroded Beyond States and Spies demonstrates through original research that such a monopoly never existed Private sector intelligence is at least as old as the organised intelligence activities of the nation state The book offers a comparative examination of private and public intelligence and makes a compelling case for understanding the dangers posed by unregulated intelligence in private hands Overall this casts new light on a hitherto under investigated academic space

Athenian Vase Construction Toby Schreiber, 1999-05-27 Based on her study of Greek pottery sherds and vases and on her profound hands on knowledge of pottery construction techniques including experiments with the potting of Attic shapes Toby Schreiber describes how ancient Greek potters constructed their vases Drawn in large part from vases and fragments in the collection of the Getty Museum the many photographs that accompany the text show how much even seemingly insignificant sherds may reveal about technique when studied by someone knowledgeable about potting The drawings all done by the author demonstrate step by step with admirable clarity how the potter executed his craft Written by a master potter this is a book both for those who know little or nothing about potting techniques and for those who already have an understanding of these matters
