Archaeological Perspectives on Conflict and Warfare in Australia and the Pacific Geoffrey Clark, Mirani Litster, 2022-03-08 When James Boswell famously lamented the irrationality of war in 1777 he noted the universality of conflict across history and across space even reaching what he described as the gentle and benign southern ocean nations This volume discusses archaeological evidence of conflict from those southern oceans from Palau and Guam to Australia Vanuatu and Tonga the Marquesas Easter Island and New Zealand The evidence for conflict and warfare encompasses defensive earthworks on Palau fortifications on Tonga and intricate pa sites in New Zealand It reports evidence of reciprocal sacrifice to appease deities in several island nations and skirmishes and smaller scale conflicts including in Easter Island This volume traces aspects of colonial era conflict in Australia and frontier battles in Vanuatu and discusses depictions of World War II materiel in the rock art of Arnhem Land Among the causes and motives discussed in these papers are pressure on resources the ebb and flow of significant climate events and the significant association of conflict with culture contact The volume necessarily selective eclectic and wide ranging includes an incisive introduction that situates the evidence persuasively in the broader scholarship addressing the history of human warfare

The Honorable Merchant - Between Modesty and Risk-Taking Christoph Lütge, Christoph Strosetzki, 2019-01-11 This volume explores the concept of the honest merchant taking a broad perspective and covering a wide range of aspects It looks at the different types of honest merchant conceptions originating from different cultures and literary traditions The book covers Japanese Islamic Scandinavian Russian German Spanish as well as other aspects and studies different disciplinary backgrounds of the honest merchant such as philosophical economic neuroethical sociological and literary ones The concept of the honest merchant has a long tradition in business ethics In the Hanseatic League and in medieval Italy the ideal of the honest businessman was taught since the late Middle Ages It originated during a time when travelling merchants were often regarded with a sceptical eye The honest merchants of their time however held clear principles in their business and took responsibility for their community In later times the religious notions of the concept lost their pivotal place to reason and morality This book goes beyond the tradition of discussing business ethics in association with concepts from the Hanseatic League and medieval Italy and puts the central concept of business ethics in a much greater perspective

Authorship and Text-making in Early China Hanmo Zhang,2018-10-08 This book is a timely response to a rather urgent call to seek an updated methodology in rereading and reappraising early Chinese texts in light of newly discovered early writings For a long time the concept of authorship in the formation and transmission of early Chinese texts has been misunderstood The nominal author who should mainly function as a guide to text formation and interpretation is considered retrospectively as the originator and writer of the text This book illustrates that although some notions about the text as the author's property began to appear in some Eastern Han texts a strict correlation between the author and the text results from later conceptions of literary history Before the modern era there existed a conceptual gap between an author and a writer A pre modern Chinese text could have had both an author and a writer or even multiple authors and multiple writers This work is the first study addressing these issues by more systematically emphasizing the connection of the text the author and the religious and sociopolitical settings in which these issues were embedded It is expected to constitute a palpable contribution to Chinese studies and the discipline of philology in general

Languages, scripts, and Chinese texts in East Asia Peter Francis Kornicki,2018-01-19 Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia is a wide ranging study of vernacularization in East Asia not only China Japan Korea and Vietnam but also societies that no longer exist such as the Tangut and Khitan empires Peter Kornicki takes the reader from the early centuries of the common era when the Chinese script was the only form of writing and Chinese Buddhist Confucian and medical texts spread throughout East Asia through the centuries when vernacular scripts evolved right up to the end of the nineteenth century when nationalism created new roles for vernacular languages and vernacular scripts Through an examination of oral approaches to Chinese texts it shows how highly valued Chinese texts came to be read through the prism of the vernaculars and ultimately to be translated This long process has some parallels with vernacularization in Europe but a crucial difference is that literary Chinese was unlike Latin not a spoken language As a consequence people who spoke different East Asian vernaculars had no means of communicating in speech but they could communicate silently by means of written conversation in literary Chinese a further consequence is that within each society Chinese texts assumed vernacular garb in classes and lectures Chinese texts were read and declaimed in the vernaculars What happened in the nineteenth century and why are there still so many different scripts in East Asia How and why were Chinese texts dethroned and what replaced them These are some of the questions addressed in Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia
