A Voyage to the North West Side of America Robert Galois, 2011-11-01 James Colnett a veteran of James Cook's second voyage to North America was an early participant in the maritime sea otter trade. Between 1786 and 1789 his two vessel expedition traversed the Northwest Coast from Prince William Sound to Vancouver Island and wintered on the Hawaiian Islands. Along the way he and his crew had some remarkable encounters with Native peoples of the Northwest Coast and the Hawaiian Islands; they were the first Europeans to encounter the Tsimshian and the southern Heiltsuk peoples as well as the first to land on the southern Queen Charlotte Islands. Colnett's journal of this expedition is published here for the first time. Editor Robert Galois provides extensive annotations along with an introductory essay addressing the geopolitical context of the voyage and the intellectual background that shaped the writing of the journal. Galois supplements Colnett's writings with extracts from a second journal also previously unpublished by Andrew Bracey Taylor, third mate on one of the ships under Colnett's command. Also included are illustrations from Colnett's journals and a variety of maps both contemporary and historical. This fascinating and informative account offers a new understanding of the early European presence in the Northwest and of Native responses to these developments. It will interest historians, geographers, and ethnographers of the Northwest Coast and beyond.

William Wells and the Struggle for the Old Northwest William Heath, 2015-03-11 Born to Anglo-American parents on the Appalachian frontier, captured by the Miami Indians at the age of thirteen and adopted into the tribe, William Wells 1770-1812 moved between two cultures all his life but was comfortable in neither. Vilified by some historians for his divided loyalties, he remains relatively unknown even though he is worthy of comparison with such famous frontiersmen as Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. William Heath's thoroughly researched book is the first biography of this man in the middle: A servant of empire with deep sympathies for the people his country sought to dispossess. Wells married Chief Little Turtle's daughter and distinguished himself as a Miami warrior, as an American spy, and as an Indian agent whose multilingual skills made him a valuable interpreter. Heath examines pioneer life in the Ohio Valley from both white and Indian perspectives, yielding rich insights into Wells's career as well as broader events on the post-revolutionary American frontier where Anglo-Americans pushing westward competed with the Indian nations of the Old Northwest for control of territory. Wells's unusual career, Heath emphasizes, earned him a great deal of ill will. Because he warned the U.S. government against Tecumseh's confederacy and the Tenskwatawa's religiously mad followers, he was hated by those who supported the Shawnee leaders. Because he came to question treaties he had helped bring about and cautioned the Indians about their harmful effects, he was distrusted by Americans. Wells is a complicated hero, and his conflicted position reflects the decline of coexistence and cooperation between two cultures.

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience We cannot continue like this Attie S. van Niekerk, Sytse Strijbos, 2022-02-07 The book is based on the view that the present trajectory of modern development cannot continue as it is now because it is ecologically unsustainable it continues to enlarge the gap between rich and poor and the decolonisation movement has drawn our attention again to the specific role of religion culture and value in human affairs and the need for a robust element of indigenisation and contextualisation This book is strongly focused on the context of Africa with two chapters that are written by authors from the Netherlands for the purpose of presenting a North South dialogue The book contains a reflection on approaches followed in building sustainable human communities in general and reflection on specific efforts to solve sustainability issues It seeks to integrate academic reflection and insights gained from practical involvement with sustainability issues in local communities and low income households with contributions from Theology and Natural and Social Sciences Encyclopedia of the Lewis and Clark Expedition Elin Woodger, Brandon Toropov, 2014-05-14 Provides facts and information about the travels of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and their Corps of Discovery and its importance in relation to Native Americans and the westward expansion in the United States International Handbook of Urban Policy H. S. Geyer, 2011 This important Handbook reveals that most urban growth takes place in the less developed world and much of it represents over urbanization that is urbanization in which most migrants cannot effectively compete for employment cannot find adequate shelter and do not have the means to feed themselves properly Yet compared to rural poverty urban poverty is widely regarded as the lesser of the two evils H S Geyer and his contributors highlight the enormous challenges posed by urbanization to decision makers at all levels of government This final volume in a series of three original reference works covers four broad themes including urban growth patterns spatial issues policy issues and urban growth determinants The chapters have been written not only for the advanced student and academics but also with undergraduate students in mind The Handbook will appeal to scholars and researchers interested in international urban development issues Advanced Functional Materials for Sustainable Environments R. K. Kotnala, Anjali Sharma Kaushik, S.

Shankar Subramanian, Amit K. Vishwakarma, 2024-09-30 The book gives an insight into the latest research going on worldwide in the area of functional materials that specifically utilized for the energy harvesting storage and environmental monitoring Since the technology is moving very fast day by day it has become a need of hour to stay updated with recent advancements in materials which include electronic magnetic optical adaptive dielectric materials etc that are required to develop new functionalities with better performance that is beneficial for sustainable environment The broad areas that are covered in the book include the knowledge of wide range of materials for energy harvesting energy storage and sensors for environmental monitoring This book is a value additional reference for beginners researchers and academicians regarding the new functional materials for device applications This book covers a wide range of topics multifunctional materials 2D materials sensing materials materials for environmental studies DFT and solar simulation of materials perovskite and double perovskite materials materials for energy conversion and storage smart materials advanced functional materials polymeric materials composites materials for sustainable development nanomaterials and thin films
