1. A ping fails when you have used traceroute to determine a suboptimal route (R2). This route is suboptimal because there are paths to the host that take only one hop (R1). Why would the other two paths suboptimally route the ping command if they ping failed? Select two.

- ☐ The highest administrative cost is used to select the best path.
- ☒ The lowest administrative cost is used to select the best path.
- ☐ The highest administrative cost is used to select the best path.
- ☐ The highest administrative cost is used to select the best path.

Explanation:

The other two suboptimal routes are used for paths that Layer 1 and Layer 2 connectivity exists between the two routers. For example, if two routers have duplicate IP addresses, a ping between the devices will fail, but the packet is sent to the other suboptimal route. This shows why suboptimal routes should be used to select the best path. The lowest administrative cost is used to select the best path.
