Meatloaf Recipes Denny Levin, 2016-02-13 Meatloaf is a dish of ground meat combined with other ingredients, formed right into a loaf shape and then baked or broiled. The loaf condition is formed simply by either cooking it inside a loaf pan or forming it personally on a ribbed baking pan. Meatloaf is usually made from beef, although lamb, chicken, seafood, veal, venison, and poultry may also be used. The meatloaf features European origins; meatloaf of minced beef was mentioned from the famous Roman culinary collection Apicius as early as the 5th century. Meatloaf is a conventional German and Belgian dish, and it is a cousin to the Dutch meatball. US meatloaf has their origins in scrapple, a combination of ground pork and cornmeal served simply by German Americans in Missouri since Colonial times. Exactly who knew meatloaf wasn't only the creation of thrifty housewives during the Great Depression is unclear. It's similar to the concept of mixing meat using a tenderizing filler, injections, traces returning to the final or 5th century AD when the particular Roman cookbook Apicius presented a food for patties made from chopped animal meat, bread, and also wine. But it really wasn't till the late 1800s of which American meatloaf was given birth to, inspired by means of recipes proposed by manufacturers from the newly conceived meat grinder.
