The Reincarnating Mind, or the Ontopoietic Outburst in Creative Virtualities Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2012-12-06 Tymieniecka's phenomenology of life reverses current priorities stressing the primogenital role of aesthetic enjoyment rather than cognition as typifying the Human Condition The present collection offers clues to a crucial breakthrough in the perennial uncertainties about the powers and prerogatives of the human mind It proposes human creativity as the pivot of the mind's genesis and its endowment In the midst of the current defiance of the transcendental certainties of cognition this turn to the creative act of the human being represents a radical reversion to an approach to human powers that is predominated by the aesthetic virtualities of the Human Condition The collection lays down the foundations for a new discovery of the human mind addressing the plumbing of the functional system that originates in the creative potentiality of the Human Condition undercutting the currently prevalent empirical reductionism

The Question of Painting Jorella Andrews, 2018-11-29 Since the latter half of the 20th century committed art has been associated with conceptual critical and activist practices Painting by contrast is all too often defined as an outmoded reactionary market led venture an ineffectual medium from the perspective of social and political engagement How can paintings change the world today The question of painting in particular fuelled the investigations of a major 20th century philosopher the French phenomenologist Maurice Merleau Ponty 1907-61 Merleau Ponty was at the forefront of attempts to place philosophy on a new footing by contravening the authority of Cartesian dualism and objectivist thought an authority that continues to limit present day intellectual imaginative and ethical possibilities A central aim of The Question of Painting is to provide a closely focused chronological account of his unfolding project and its relationship with art clarifying how painting as a paradigmatically embodied and situated mode of investigation helped him to access the fundamentally intercorporeal basis of reality as he saw it and articulate its lived implications With an exclusive and extended conversation about the contemporary virtues of painting with New York based artist Leah Durner for whom the work of Merleau Ponty is an important source of inspiration The Question of Painting brings today's much debated concerns about the criticality of painting into contact with the question of painting in philosophy
