30.0 cm<sup>3</sup> of 0.100 mol dm<sup>-3</sup> NaOH reacted completely with 25.0 cm<sup>3</sup> of H<sub>2</sub>SO<sub>4</sub> in a titration.

Calculate the concentration of H<sub>2</sub>SO<sub>4</sub> in mol dm<sup>-3</sup>?

Step 2: Find no' of moles in NaOH

✓  $c = 0.1 \text{ mol dm}^{-3}$

$V = 25 \text{ cm}^3$

✓  $V = \underline{30 \text{ cm}^3}$

Using  $n = c \times v$

$$\begin{aligned} n(\text{NaOH}) &= 0.1 \times \frac{30}{1000} \\ &= 0.003 \text{ mol} \end{aligned}$$

Multiple Representations in Chemical Education John K. Gilbert, David Treagust, 2009-02-28 Chemistry seeks to provide qualitative and quantitative explanations for the observed behaviour of elements and their compounds Doing so involves making use of three types of representation the macro the empirical properties of substances the sub micro the natures of the entities giving rise to those properties and the symbolic the number of entities involved in any changes that take place Although understanding this triplet relationship is a key aspect of chemical education there is considerable evidence that students find great difficulty in achieving mastery of the ideas involved In bringing together the work of leading chemistry educators who are researching the triplet relationship at the secondary and university levels the book discusses the learning involved the problems that students encounter and successful approaches to teaching Based on the reported research the editors argue for a coherent model for understanding the triplet relationship in chemical education

Chemical Energy from Natural and Synthetic Gas Yatish T. Shah, 2017-03-16 Commercial development of energy from renewables and nuclear is critical to long term industry and environmental goals However it will take time for them to economically compete with existing fossil fuel energy resources and their infrastructures Gas fuels play an important role during and beyond this transition away from fossil fuel dominance to a balanced approach to fossil nuclear and renewable energies Chemical Energy from Natural and Synthetic Gas illustrates this point by examining the many roles of natural and synthetic gas in the energy and fuel industry addressing it as both a transition and end game fuel The book describes various types of gaseous fuels and how are they are recovered purified and converted to liquid fuels and electricity generation and used for other static and mobile applications It emphasizes methane syngas and hydrogen as fuels although other volatile hydrocarbons are considered It also covers storage and transportation infrastructure for natural gas and hydrogen and methods and processes for cleaning and reforming synthetic gas The book also deals applications such as the use of natural gas in power production in power plants engines turbines and vehicle needs Presents a unified and collective look at gas in the energy and fuel industry addressing it as both a transition and end game fuel Emphasizes methane syngas and hydrogen as fuels Covers gas storage and transport infrastructure Discusses thermal gasification gas reforming processing purification and upgrading Describes biogas and bio hydrogen production Deals with the use of natural gas in power production in power plants engines turbines and vehicle needs

Thermodynamics of Solutions Eli Ruckenstein, Ivan L. Shulgin, 2009-06-17 This book consists of a number of papers regarding the thermodynamics and structure of multicomponent systems that we have published during the last decade Even though they involve different topics and different systems they have something in common which can be considered as the signature of the present book First these papers are concerned with difficult or very nonideal systems i e systems with very strong interactions e g hyd gen bonding between components or systems with large differences in the partial molar v umes of the components e g the aqueous solutions of proteins or systems that are far from normal conditions e g critical or near critical mixtures Second the conventional th modynamic methods are not sufficient for the accurate treatment of these mixtures Last but not least these systems are of interest for the pharmaceutical biomedical and related ind tries In order to meet the thermodynamic challenges involved in these complex mixtures we employed a variety of traditional methods but also new methods such as the fluctuation theory of Kirkwood and Buff and ab initio quantum mechanical techniques The Kirkwood Buff KB theory is a rigorous formalism which is free of any of the approximations usually used in the thermodynamic treatment of multicomponent systems This theory appears to be very fruitful when applied to the above mentioned difficult systems Analysis of Biological Networks Björn H. Junker, Falk Schreiber, 2011-09-20 An introduction to biological networks and methods for their analysis Analysis of Biological Networks is the first book of its kind to provide readers with a comprehensive introduction to the structural analysis of biological networks at the interface of biology and computer science The book begins with a brief overview of biological networks and graph theory graph algorithms and goes on to explore global network properties network centralities network motifs network clustering Petri nets signal transduction and gene regulation networks protein interaction networks metabolic networks phylogenetic networks ecological networks and correlation networks Analysis of Biological Networks is a self contained introduction to this important research topic assumes no expert knowledge in computer science or biology and is accessible to professionals and students alike Each chapter concludes with a summary of main points and with exercises for readers to test their understanding of the material presented Additionally an FTP site with links to author provided data for the book is available for deeper study This book is suitable as a resource for researchers in computer science biology bioinformatics advanced biochemistry and the life sciences and also serves as an ideal reference text for graduate level courses in bioinformatics and biological research Materials for Sustainable Energy Vincent Dusastre, 2011 The search for cleaner cheaper smaller and more efficient energy technologies has to a large extent been motivated by the development of new materials The aim of this collection of articles is therefore to focus on what materials based solutions can offer and show how the rationale design and improvement of their physical and chemical properties can lead to energy production alternatives that have the potential to compete with existing technologies In terms of alternative means to generate electricity that utilize renewable energy sources the most dramatic breakthroughs for both mobile i e transportation and stationary applications are taking place in the fields of solar and fuel cells And from an energy storage perspective exciting developments can be seen emerging from the fields of rechargeable batteries and hydrogen storage

When China Goes to the Moon... Marco Aliberti, 2015-07-04 This book is about China's ambitions in its most complex and internationally visible space endeavor namely its human space exploration programme It provides a comprehensive reflection on China's strategic direction and objectives in space including in particular those set forth in its human spaceflight programme and analyses the key domestic and external factors affecting the country's presumed manned lunar ambitions The objective of the book is to disentangle the opportunities and challenges China's space ambitions are creating for other spacefaring nations and for Europe in particular It therefore includes an in depth analysis of possible European postures towards China in space exploration and seeks to stimulate a debate on future space strategies in the broader context of world politics Australian Journal of Chemistry, 2008 Materials for Sustainable Sites Meg Calkins, 2008-09-22 Dieser

Review of Automotive Engineering JSAE , Resolving the Late Paleozoic Ice Age in Time and Space Christopher R. Fielding, Tracy D. Frank, John L. Isbell, 2008-01-01 This volume summarizes new developments in understanding the longest lived icehouse period in Phanerozoic Earth history the late Paleozoic ice age Resolving the Late Paleozoic Ice Age in Time and Space provides summaries of existing and new data from the various Gondwanan continental relics and also reviews stratigraphic successions from the paleotropical and temperate regions of Laurussia that preserve an indirect record of glaciation It addresses the extent to which records of glaciation indicate protracted long term climatic austerity as opposed to fluctuating more dynamic climate and provides new constraints on the timing of glaciation Additionally it tackles questions of synchronicity of glaciation across the various Gondwanan continental relics and timing relationships between near field and far field records at greater levels of resolution than has been possible previously Results point toward a dynamic icehouse regime that is comparable to the Cenozoic icehouse and away from traditional interpretations of the late Paleozoic ice age as a single protracted event that involved stable long lived ice centers Publisher's website

Water Policy Entrepreneurs Sander Meijerink, 2009 Unsurpassed in the scope of its coverage this book explores like no other the roles of policy entrepreneurs and the causes of policy change across diverse political systems ranging from the developing world to the largest western democracies The studies show how entrepreneurs work with outside donors take advantage of windows of political opportunity create those windows and push the policy process in the direction they hope They also show the limits to these strategies and strategies that tend to fail The book dramatically advances our understanding not only of change and stability in water policy but of the policy process more generally Frank R Baumgartner University of North Carolina US This book is a theoretically and empirically grounded analysis of one of the world's most pressing problems the management of water resources The editors have assembled a remarkable collection of authors with a truly global outlook and an excellent grasp of contemporary water issues as well as modern theories of public policy and decision making The volume also demonstrates excellent applications of policy theory to current and pressing matters It is a must read for students and practitioners in water resources and will be influential to water policy and in environmental resource management and policy

for years to come Thomas A Birkland North Carolina State University US This volume is a major achievement It advances our knowledge of stability and change in water policy through case studies from around the world Its focus on transitions instances of really major shifts in policy is particularly welcome at a time when challenges such as climate change force water policy makers to reconsider the very foundations of their regulatory frameworks and infrastructural policies The volume goes beyond water policy however It makes a major contribution to the study of policy dynamics in general by offering an empirically grounded comparative analysis of policy entrepreneurs as change agents in policy networks There has been much loose talk about policy entrepreneurs in the fields of public administration and public policy but a dearth of empirical work underpinning the various claims made This volume goes a long way towards filling that gap Highly recommended for water experts and policy scientists alike Paul t Hart Australian National University Australia and Utrecht University the Netherlands This major volume focuses on the role of policy entrepreneurs in revolutionizing water management worldwide Adopting an international comparative perspective the authors explore the changes taking place in water policy across fifteen countries at both the global level and within the European Union Their analysis highlights the importance of groups and individuals in stimulating progress and reveals the crucial part played by policy entrepreneurs Successful entrepreneurs use various strategies to initiate and implement change including the framing and reframing of issues the assembly of coalitions venue shopping and the exploitation of windows of opportunity In showcasing the role of entrepreneurs in achieving transitions and explaining their approach this groundbreaking book presents an optimistic message for those who desire improvements in the way water is managed This book will not only make a unique contribution to the current literature on transition management but will also prove an invaluable tool for those keen to influence water policy management at the regional national and international level It will be of great interest to students and scholars of water resources and environmental management and governance as well as practitioners in the fields of water and climate policy

Golobič, 2021-04-06 The decreasing capacity to govern complex social processes results in negative trends that breach system thresholds in all main social domains with extreme economic stratification of society Independent studies steadily report that a strong majority of the world's population between 60% and 80% already feels excluded and no longer represented by their governments The two prevailing concepts of complexity seem to overlook the central importance of mesoscopic complexity Socially complex conditions call for a new kind of social thought specifically developed for a blinded generation that must be as different from modern and postmodern thoughts as they were different from their middle age precedents Complex Society In the Middle of a Middle World addresses the concerns of the excluded majority by explaining how present complex social conditions work in favor of generational aspirations to achieve a more positive future In the geometry of thinking a complex matter is not comprehensible objectively but only by evaluating overlaps between complexity domains on their periphery which is in the area of their inconsistencies The book first develops an evaluative methodology for studying complex social matters and then tests it with three case studies that reflect some of the most pressing problems in contemporary societies aggregation problem integration problem and organization problem The obtained findings give grounds for the depiction of an outline for the anti postmodern ordering of contemporary societies This ground breaking text will be of particular interest for graduate and post graduate level of social sciences evaluators of project program and policy impact evaluation evaluators of philosophy of science as well as methodologists of social research and public governance
