Agricultural Research in Africa Lynam, John, Beintema, Nienke M., Roseboom, Johannes, Badiane, Ousmane, 2016-09-06
This book prepared by Agricultural Science and Technology Indicators ASTI which is led by IFPRI offers a comprehensive perspective on the evolution current status and future goals of agricultural research and development in Africa including analyses of the complex underlying issues and challenges involved as well as insights into how they might be overcome Agriculture in Africa south of the Sahara is at a prospective tipping point Growth has accelerated in the past decade but is unsustainable given increasing use of finite resources The yield gap in African agriculture is significant and scenarios on feeding the world's population into the future highlight the need for Africa to expand its agricultural production Agricultural Research in Africa Investing in Future Harvests discusses the need to shift to a growth path based on increased productivity as in the rest of the developing world which is essential if Africa is to increase rural incomes and compete in both domestic and international markets Such a shift ultimately requires building on evolving improvements that collectively translate to deepening rural innovation capacity MBA Entrance Previous Years' Papers Ebook-PDF Chandresh Agrawal, nandini books, 2025-06-27 SGN The MBA Entrance Previous Years Papers Ebook PDF Covers Objective Questions From Various Previous Years Papers With Answers Based On Memory Handbook Of Climate Change And Agroecosystems: The Agricultural Model Intercomparison And Improvement Project (Agmip) Integrated Crop And Economic Assessments — Joint Publication With Asa, Cssa, And Sssa (In 2 Parts) Daniel Hillel, Cynthia Rosenzweig, 2015-02-13 Top agricultural scientists from around the world have taken up the challenge of sustainable agriculture with the specific focus on integrating agronomic climatological biophysical and socio economic perspectives and processes Every chapter of the Handbook contributes to addressing the growing food security challenges facing the world Foreword by Jeffrey Sachs Director of the Earth Institute at Columbia University Climate effects on agriculture are of increasing concern in both the scientific and policy communities because of the growing population and the greater uncertainty in the weather during growing seasons Changes in production are directly linked to variations in temperature and precipitation during the growing season and often to the offseason changes in weather because of soil water storage to replenish the soil profile This is not an isolated problem but one of worldwide interest because each country has concerns about their food security The Agricultural Model Intercomparison and Improvement Project AgMIP was developed to evaluate agricultural models and intercompare their ability to predict climate impacts In sub Saharan Africa and South Asia South America and East Asia AgMIP regional research teams RRTs are conducting integrated assessments to improve understanding of agricultural impacts of climate change including biophysical and economic impacts at national and regional scales Other AgMIP initiatives include global gridded modeling data and information technology IT tool development simulation of crop pests and diseases site based crop climate sensitivity studies and aggregation and scaling 2013 Global Food Policy Report Fan, Shenggen, Polman,

Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa Brett Bennett, Fred Kruger, 2015-11-11 This innovative interdisciplinary study focuses on the history science and policy of tree planting and water conservation in South Africa South Africa s forestry sector has sat often controversially at the crossroads of policy and scientific debates regarding water conservation economic development and biodiversity protection Bennett and Kruger show how debates about the hydrological impact of exotic tree planting in South Africa shaped the development of modern scientific ideas and state policies relating to timber plantations water conservation invasive species control and biodiversity management within South Africa as well as elsewhere in the world Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa shows how scientific research on the impact of exotic and native vegetation led to the development of a comprehensive national policy for conserving water producing timber and protecting indigenous species from invasive alien plants Policies and laws relating to forests and water began to change in the late 1980s and early 1990s as a result of political and administrative changes within South Africa This book suggests that the country s contemporary policies towards timber plantations guided by the National Water Act of 1998 need to be reconsidered in light of the authors findings Bennett and Kruger also call for more interdisciplinary research and greater emphasis on integrated policies and management plans for forestry invasive alien plants water conservation and biodiversity preservation

The role of agriculture in the fast-growing Rwandan Economy Diao, Xinshen, Bahiigwa, Godfrey, Pradesha, Angga, 2014-07-31 This study assesses the future growth prospects of Rwanda The report first focuses on broad economic growth using a rather aggregated 18 sector dynamic general equilibrium model to display the trade off between rapid growth and structural change The analysis shows that with the current investment pattern rapid growth is possible but structural transformation is slow With an overvalued exchange rate growth in the tradable sector slows down and its share in the economy stays small The importance of agriculture thus should be considered in the broad development strategy for its role not only in poverty reduction but also in economic growth

Territorial Cohesion in Rural Europe Andrew K. Copus, Philomena de Lima, 2014-08-13 This book reflects on how the economies social characteristics ways of life and global relationships of rural areas of Europe have changed in recent years This reveals a need to refresh the concepts we use to understand measure and describe rural communities and their development potential This book argues that Europe has outgrown many of the stereotypes usually associated with it with substantial implications for European Rural Policy Rural structural change and its evolving geography are portrayed through regional typologies and the concept of the New Rural Economy Demographic change migration business networks and agricultural restructuring are each explored in greater detail Implications for equality and social exclusion and recent developments in the field of governance are also considered Despite being a subject of active debate interventions in the fields of rural and regional development have failed to adapt to changing realities and have become increasingly polarized This book argues that rural regional policy needs to evolve in order to address the current complex reality partially reformulating territorial or place based approaches and the New Rural Paradigm following a set of principles termed Rural Cohesion Policy

Models and Estimation of Genetic Effects José M Álvarez-Castro,Rong-Cai Yang,2015-04-17 Ronald Fisher needed to develop elaborate models of genetic effects in order to set the foundations of Quantitative Genetics in his 1918 paper The correlation between relatives on the supposition of Mendelian inheritance Since then many significant implementations have been made to model genetic effects However at the verge of one century after Fisher s kick off models of genetic effects keep on being discussed and implemented Indeed the relatively recent advent of QTL analyses challenged the state of the art of this field by providing researchers the opportunity to obtain and analyze estimates of genetic effects from real data In this context the development of this field was not exempt of some polemics like the debate about the convenience of the functional and the statistical epistasis approaches This research topic is meant to provide recent developments in models and estimation of genetic effects and to enrich the discussion about how and why models of genetic effects must be further developed and applied The articles in this Research Topic shall thus extend refine and or provide a refresh look at Fisher s original models of genetic effects and their application to genetic effects estimation and to improve our understanding of evolutionary processes and breeding programs

Governance Nora McKeon,2014-12-17 This book fills a gap in the literature by setting food security in the context of evolving global food governance Today s food system generates hunger alongside of food waste burgeoning health problems massive greenhouse gas emissions Applying food system analysis to review how the international community has addressed food issues since World War II this book proceeds to explain how actors link up in corporate global food chains and in the local food systems that feed most of the world s population It unpacks relevant paradigms from productivism to food sovereignty and highlights the significance of adopting a rights based approach to solving food problems The author describes how communities around the world are protecting their access to resources and building better ways of producing and accessing food and discusses the reformed Committee on World Food Security a uniquely inclusive global policy forum and how it could be supportive of efforts from the base The book concludes by identifying terrains on which work is needed to adapt the practice of the democratic public sphere and accountable governance to a global dimension and extend its authority to the world of markets and corporations This book will be of interest to students of food security global governance development studies and critical security studies in general     Hun Sen's Cambodia Sebastian

Strangio,2014-01-01 A fascinating analysis of the recent history of the beautiful but troubled Southeast Asian nation of Cambodia To many in the West the name Cambodia still conjures up indelible images of destruction and death the legacy of the brutal Khmer Rouge regime and the terror it inflicted in its attempt to create a communist utopia in the 1970s Sebastian Strangio a journalist based in the capital city of Phnom Penh now offers an eye opening appraisal of modern day Cambodia in the years following its emergence from bitter conflict and bloody upheaval In the early 1990s Cambodia became the focus of the UN s first great post Cold War nation building project with billions in international aid rolling in to support the fledgling democracy But since the UN supervised elections in 1993 the nation has slipped steadily backward into neo authoritarian rule under Prime Minister Hun Sen Behind a mirage of democracy ordinary people have few rights and corruption infuses virtually every facet of everyday life In this lively and compelling study the first of its kind Strangio explores the present state of Cambodian society under Hun Sen s leadership painting a vivid portrait of a nation struggling to reconcile the promise of peace and democracy with a violent and tumultuous past     Ecophysiology of root systems-environment interaction Boris

Rewald,Omer Falik,Douglas Godbold,Shimon Rachmilevitch,2014-09-03 There is a scarcity of detailed information regarding the ecophysiology of root systems and the way root system functioning is affected by both internal and external factors Furthermore global climate change is expected to increase the intensity of climate extremes such as severe drought heat waves and periods of heavy rainfall in addition other stresses such as salinization of soils are increasing world wide Recently an increasing awareness has developed that understanding plant traits will play a major role in breeding of future crop plants For example there is increasing evidence that the traits of root systems are defined by the properties of individual roots However further knowledge on the functional importance of root segments and the molecular physiological mechanisms underlying root system functioning and persistence is needed and would specifically allow modifying crop root system functionality and efficiency in the future Another major gap in knowledge is localized at the root soil interface and in regard to the potential adaptive plasticity of root rhizosphere interactions under abiotic stress and or competition It is currently unknown whether adaptations in microbe communities occur for example due to modified exudation rates and what are the subsequent influences on nutrient mobilization and uptake Furthermore uncovering the mechanisms by which roots perceive neighboring roots may not only contribute to our understanding of plant developmental strategies but also has important implications on the study of competitive interactions in natural communities and in optimizing plant performance and resource use in agricultural and silvicultural systems In this Research Topic we aimed to provide an on line open access snapshot of the current state of the art of the field of root ecology and physiology with special focus on the translation of root structure to function and how root systems are influenced by interplay with internal and external factors such as abiotic stress microbes and plant plant interaction We welcomed original research papers but reviews of specific topics articles formulating opinions or describing cutting edge methods were also gladly accepted
