Smith, 2011-06-27 Occupational hazards have plagued human civilisation since time immemorial and much of the progress in making workplaces safer is reflected by and recorded in the academic periodicals of environmental and occupational health As a result careful examination of these journals provides an interesting record of the field itself as well as documenting the concerns and issues deemed important by editorial boards and contributors over time Derek Smith has established himself as a pioneer in analyzing the literature of environmental and occupational health Thanks to his fine work we may use this resource to understand both the history of EOH for its own sake and the dynamics of publishing in one medium sized but largely self contained scientific field Tee L Guidotti China's Economic Zones Lu Zhiguo Tao Yitao, 2012-03-01 A thorough examination of the establishment and development of China's Special Economic Zones SEZ These eight SEZs marked a major milestone in China's gradual market oriented reform process and the developmental fluctuations of these zones offers an in depth understanding of the complexities and difficulties of reform They also provide critical insight into China's thirty years of economic and social transformation This book is a valuable and practical resource for governments academics and policy advisors looking for an insight into and analysis of how the Special Economic Zone strategy played a key role in the transformation of China's economy Empire from the Margins Martin Jacobs, 2025-07-15 The writings of three early modern Jewish historians highlight the divided allegiances of a Jewish diaspora living in and between the Spanish and Ottoman empires In 1492 the year that marked the start of Spain's transatlantic expansion the Spanish monarchs expelled their Jewish subjects and triggered a mass Jewish migration to the lands of the Ottoman Empire. But while the rise of these rival empires had tremendous impact on the Jewish population's geography, the historical accounts of contemporary Jews have remained peripheral to the study of early modern imperialism. In Empire from the Margins, Martin Jacobs seeks to understand how the history of empires appears through the lens of marginalized communities and to explore how Jews responded to Spanish and Ottoman imperial expansion. He approaches this history through the Hebrew chronicles of three sixteenth and seventeenth century Jewish authors: Elijah Capsali of Crete, Joseph ha Kohen of Genoa, and Joseph Sambari of Cairo. All lived in early modern hubs with global connections and in unusual detail for premodern Jewish historians they described how the Spanish and Ottoman empires redrew the political, cultural, and religious map of the Mediterranean region while simultaneously transforming the transatlantic world. As Jews, these writers belonged to an ethno-religious minority within the Mediterranean basin where the Spanish and Ottoman empires were centered and from here they expressed marginalized views on the Spanish and Ottoman regimes. At the same time, these Jewish authors belonged to Jewish networks that transcended imperial boundaries and they voiced conflicting loyalties between different authorities and cultures. And Jacobs shows that in writing about the Spanish and Ottoman expansion, these authors also grappled with the Jews' precarious position in their host societies and their own multilayered identities. Their shifting positionalities illuminate the divided allegiances of a Jewish diaspora living in and between competing empires.

Translation and Language Education Sara Laviosa, 2014-08-01 The revival of translation as a means of learning and teaching a foreign language and as a skill in its own right is occurring at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels in universities. In this book, Sara Laviosa proposes a translation-based pedagogy that is grounded in theory and has been applied in real educational contexts. This volume draws on the convergence between the view of language and translation embraced by ecologically oriented educationalists and the theoretical underpinnings of the holistic approach to translating culture. It puts forward a holistic pedagogy that harmonizes the teaching of language and translation in the same learning environment. The author examines the changing nature of the role of pedagogic translation, starting with the Grammar Translation Method and concluding with the more recent ecological approaches to Foreign Language Education. Translation and Language Education analyses current research into the revival of translation in language teaching and is vital reading for translators, language teachers, and postgraduate students working in the areas of Translation Studies and Applied Linguistics.

China's Special Economic Zones C. H. Chai, 1986 This volume analyses the historical, economic, political, geographical, legal, planning, and management aspects of the zones and discusses their original motivations, current problems, and future prospects.

The Queen's English Henry Alford, 1888 Handbook of Research on Special Economic Zones as Regional Development Enablers Figueiredo, Paulo Guilherme, Leandro, Francisco José, Li, Yichao, 2021-10-15 Special economic zones (SEZs) are important doorways for countries to attract foreign investment and promote trade. A strong correlation between the creation of SEZs and economic development indicators has also been identified in previous studies at the municipal level in China. Thus the fundamental question that needs to be explored is to what extent SEZs can play the role of development enablers in different regions' development states and institutional settings. The Handbook of Research on Special Economic Zones as Regional Development Enablers discusses the diverse and international track records in the implementation of SEZs, the interplay of SEZ models and local institutional infrastructure and stakeholders, and the SEZ models that can best fit certain development states and/or settings. Covering topics such as the Belt and Road Initiative, local and national economies, and regional integration, this book is essential for government officials, development officers, scholars, students, researchers, entrepreneurs, public decision makers, aid agencies, company executives, investors, and academicians. Multinational Enterprises and the Law Peter Muchlinski, 2021. Multinational Enterprises and the Law is the only comprehensive contemporary and interdisciplinary account of the techniques used to regulate multinational enterprises (MNEs) at the national, regional, and multilateral levels. In addition, it considers the effects of corporate self-regulation and the impact of civil society and community groups upon the development of the legal order in this area. The book has been thoroughly revised and updated for this third edition, making it a definitive reference work for students, researchers, and practitioners of international economic law, business, corporate and commercial law, development studies, and international politics. Split into four parts, the book first deals with the conceptual basis for MNE regulation. It explains the growth of MNEs, their business and legal forms, and the relationship between them and the effects of a globalized economy and society now increasingly challenged by recently revived nationalist economic policies upon the evolution of regulatory agendas in the field. In addition, the limits of national and regional jurisdiction over MNE activities are considered a question that arises throughout the specialized areas of regulation covered in the remainder of the book. Part II covers the main areas of economic regulation, including controls over and the liberalization of entry and establishment, tax, company, and competition law, and the impact of intellectual property rights on technology diffusion and transfer. A specialized chapter on the regulation of multinational banks in the wake of the global financial crisis is new to this edition. Part III introduces the social dimension of MNE regulation, covering labour rights, human rights, and environmental issues. Finally, Part IV deals with the contribution of international investment law to MNE regulation and to the control of investment risks, covering the main provisions found in international investment agreements, their interpretation by international tribunals, the process of investor-state arbitration, and how concerns over these developments are leading to reform proposals. Crisis Management Challenges in Kaliningrad Eugene Krasnov, Anna Karpenko, 2016-04-22. Crisis Management Challenges in Kaliningrad captures the evolving nature of the types of crises faced by a society as it transforms and evolves. Once the westernmost bastion of the Soviet Union and now the westernmost part of the Russian Federation, the Kaliningrad Oblast remains cut off from direct land communication with mainland Russia and provides a condensed real-life laboratory in which to observe changing political technological and economic priorities in Post Soviet society Expert contributors from the region chart the tensions problems and opportunities created by the collapse of the Soviet Union in December 1991 and examine the change in status and situation of the Kaliningrad Oblast By looking at a selection of economic environmental and social crises a historical link between the Soviet and Post Soviet eras is formed and rigorously examined Lives of the Queens of England, from the Norman Conquest.
