SouthSouth Trade and Finance in the Twenty-First Century Omar Dahi,Firat Demir,2016-10-10 This book is a contribution to the international trade and economic development literature and is based on a decade of joint research and collaboration on South South economic relations Given the increasing focus on the economic power of some developing countries for example the 2013 Human Development Report s Rise of the South it is particularly appropriate and timely NP The book s findings are based on rigorous empirical examination of South South trade and finance and it provides an even handed assessment from the perspective of long term development goals rather than mainstream welfare approaches or ideological theoretical worldview NP This work directly engages with the new developmentalism literature that has challenged the neoliberal orthodoxy and its policy approach which focuses on liberalization privatization and deregulation It also engages with literature by examining whether the increase in South South trade facilitates or inhibits the possibilities for developmentalist economic policy in developing countries The book shows concrete and positive results from South South trade particularly related to industrial development and also documents how South South trade is dominated by large developing countries and that South South trade liberalization may be counterproductive

Managing Socio-ecological Production Landscapes and Seascapes for Sustainable Communities in Asia Osamu Saito,Suneetha M Subramanian,Shizuka Hashimoto,Kazuhiko Takeuchi,2020-02-10 This open access book presents up to date analyses of community based approaches to sustainable resource management of SEPLS socio ecological production landscapes and seascapes in areas where a harmonious relationship between the natural environment and the people who inhabit it is essential to ensure community and environmental well being as well as to build resilience in the ecosystems that support this well being Understanding SEPLS and the forces of change that can weaken their resilience requires the integration of knowledge across a wide range of academic disciplines as well as from indigenous knowledge and experience Moreover given the wide variation in the socio ecological makeup of SEPLS around the globe as well as in their political and economic contexts individual communities will be at the forefront of developing the measures appropriate for their unique circumstances This in turn requires robust communication systems and broad participatory approaches Sustainability science SuS research is highly integrated participatory and solutions driven and as such is well suited to the study of SEPLS Through case studies literature reviews and SuS analyses the book explores various approaches to stakeholder participation policy development and appropriate action for the future of SEPLS It provides communities researchers and decision makers at various levels with new tools and strategies for exploring scenarios and creating future visions for sustainable societies Environmental Water Markets and Regulation Katherine Owens, 2016-11-18 River systems around the world are degraded and are being used unsustainably Meeting this challenge requires the development of flexible regimes that have the potential to meet essential consumptive needs while restoring environmental flows This book focuses on how water trading frameworks can be repurposed for environmental water recovery and aims to conceptualise the most appropriate role for law in supporting recovery through these frameworks The author presents a comprehensive study of the legal frameworks in four jurisdictions the States of Oregon and Colorado in the western United States the province of Alberta in Canada and the Murray Darling Basin in Australia Basin State of New South Wales A close comparative analysis of these four jurisdictions reveals a variety of distinctive regulatory arrangements and collaborations between public and private actors In all cases the law has been deployed to steer and coordinate these water governance activities The book argues that each regime is based on a particular regulatory strategy with different conceptions of the appropriate roles for and relationships between various actors and institutions Legal frameworks do not have the capacity to rationalise and provide an overarching and absolute solution to the complex environmental and governance issues that arise in the context of environmental water transactions Rather the role of law in this context needs to be reconceptualised within the paradigm of regulatory capitalism as establishing and maintaining the limits within which regulatory participants can operate innovate and collaborate
