Innovation Systems in Emerging Economies Vanessa Casadella,2018-07-27 The aim of this book is to review the innovation systems in their classical version before defining them in the light of emerging economies through the objectives of economic and sustainable development. If we return particularly to the innovation system and its importance, we will show through these new MINTs that their innovation systems are perpetuated based on very localized experiments despite the fragility of their links, the lack of national coherence of innovation and above all the weakness of their innovation policy.

Africa's Development Dynamics 2023 Investing in Sustainable Development African Union Commission, OECD, 2023-07-07 Africa's Development Dynamics uses lessons from Central East North Southern and West Africa to develop policy recommendations and share good practices across the continent. Drawing on the most recent statistics, the analysis of development dynamics aims to assist African leaders in reaching the targets of the African Union's Agenda 2063 at all levels: continental, regional, national and local.

OECD Investment Policy Reviews Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, 2017 This review, which was prepared in response to Kazakhstan's 2012 request to adhere to the Declaration on International Investment and Multinational Enterprises, OECD Declaration analyses the general framework for investment as well as most recent reforms and shows where further efforts are necessary. It assesses Kazakhstan's ability to comply with the principles of openness, transparency and non-discrimination and its policy convergence with the OECD Declaration including responsible business conduct practices. Capitalising on the OECD Policy Framework for Investment, this review studies other policy areas that are of key relevance to investment such as SME policy, infrastructure development, trade policy as well as anti-corruption efforts. Since the first review of Kazakhstan in 2012, the authorities have made strides in opening the country to international investment and in improving the policy framework for investment as part of their efforts to diversify the economy to avoid continued overreliance on oil. Additional policy measures are nevertheless required to create a stimulating environment for investment if the government wants to fulfil its goal of economic diversification and sustainable development.

OECD Investment Policy Reviews Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, 2015 This Investment Policy Review examines Nigeria's investment policies in light of the OECD Policy Framework for Investment (PFI), a tool to mobilize investment in support of economic growth and sustainable development. It provides an assessment and policy recommendations on different areas of the PFI: investment policy, investment promotion and facilitation, trade policy, infrastructure, investment competition, corporate governance and financial sector development. It also includes a special chapter analyzing the PFI in Lagos State. The Review follows on the request addressed by the Minister of Industry, Trade and Investment of Nigeria to the OECD Secretary General in December 2011. It has been prepared in close co-operation with the Federal Government of Nigeria and Lagos State Government.

Green Finance and Investment Clean Energy Finance and Investment Policy Review of Indonesia OECD, 2021-06-28 Thanks to tremendous renewable energy and energy efficiency potential and a stable dynamic economy, Indonesia has become a coveted destination for investors in the clean energy sector. Clean energy investment, however, remains far below the level needed to realise Indonesia's ambitious clean energy and sustainable finance goals.

African perspectives in international investment law Yenkong Ngangjoh Hodu, Makane Moïse Mbengue, 2020-12-15

The tremendous growth in foreign direct investment FDI in Africa comes at a time when the field of international investment law and arbitration is witnessing a renewal. The investment has led to big business for law firms in the area of investment arbitration and the last decade has witnessed an increased number of investment treaties proliferating investment disputes, the rise of mega regional trade agreements and the negotiation of mega regional infrastructure projects. Yet while the argument in support of investment treaties as instruments to attract foreign direct investment is highly contested, many African countries are no doubt becoming more aware of the need to reshape the international investment architecture. This volume explores trends in FDI on the African continent, the benefits and challenges that FDI presents for African States and Africa's participation in the international investment law regime. Featuring contributions from leading African international lawyers, arbitrators, jurists, academics and litigation experts, this landmark volume is the first of its kind to explore African perspectives in international investment law. Hodu and Mbengue bring together non-mainstream approaches to the debate on the nexus between foreign investment and development, addressing key conceptual issues that will define contemporary international investment law for decades to come. With insights and critical comments on the challenges of Africa's foreign investment climate and international investment law, this timely collection is essential reading for academics, students and practitioners alike.
