Kids, Cops, and Confessions Barry Feld, 2023-11-21 Juveniles possess less maturity intelligence and competence than adults heightening their vulnerability in the justice system For this reason states try juveniles in separate courts and use different sentencing standards than for adults Yet when police bring kids in for questioning they use the same interrogation tactics they use for adults including trickery deception and lying to elicit confessions or to produce incriminating evidence against the defendants In Kids Cops and Confessions Barry Feld offers the first report of what actually happens when police question juveniles Drawing on remarkable data Feld analyzes interrogation tapes and transcripts police reports juvenile court filings and sentences and probation and sentencing reports describing in rich detail what actually happens in the interrogation room Contrasting routine interrogation and false confessions enables police lawyers and judges to identify interrogations that require enhanced scrutiny to adopt policies to protect citizens and to assure reliability and integrity of the justice system Feld has produced an invaluable look at how the justice system really works

Census of Population and Housing (1990): Effectiveness of Quality Assurance , The Violence of Care Sameena Mulla, 2014-08-29 Winner 2017 Margaret Mead Award presented by the American Anthropological Association and the Society for Applied Anthropology Honorable Mention 2015 Eileen Basker Memorial Prize presented by the Society for Medical Anthropology Analyzes the ways in which nurses work to collect and preserve evidence while addressing the needs of sexual assault victims as patients Every year in the US thousands of women and hundreds of men participate in sexual assault forensic examinations Drawing on four years of participatory research in a Baltimore emergency room Sameena Mulla reveals the realities of sexual assault response in the forensic age Taking an approach developed at the intersection of medical and legal anthropology she analyzes the ways in which nurses work to collect and preserve evidence while addressing the needs of sexual assault victims as patients Mulla argues that blending the work of care and forensic investigation into a single intervention shapes how victims of violence understand their own suffering recovery and access to justice in short what it means to be a victim As nurses race the clock to preserve biological evidence institutional practices technologies and even state requirements for documentation undermine the way in which they are able to offer psychological and physical care Yet most of the evidence they collect never reaches the courtroom and does little to increase the number of guilty verdicts Mulla illustrates the violence of care with painstaking detail illuminating why victims continue to experience what many call secondary rape during forensic intervention even as forensic nursing is increasingly professionalized Revictimization can occur even at the hands of conscientious nurses simply because they are governed by institutional requirements that shape their practices The Violence of Care challenges the uncritical adoption of forensic practice in sexual assault intervention and post rape care showing how forensic intervention profoundly impacts the experiences of violence justice healing and recovery for victims of rape and sexual assault Measuring Race and Ethnicity Larry E. Davis, Rafael J. Engel, 2010-10-26 Racial and ethnic issues stand at the core of social political and economic concerns in an increasingly diverse America Accordingly how individuals from the various ethnic groups regard themselves and others is a salient focus questions about race have vexed our social life But for all we speak about race do we know what race is Is it a social construct or a biological object Is it a bankrupt holdover from a time before sophisticated scientific understanding and genetics or can it still hold up in biological genetic and other types of research Most fundamentally is race real In this book four prominent philosophers and race theorists debate how best to answer these difficult questions applying philosophical tools and the principles of social justice to cutting edge findings from the biological and social sciences Each presents a distinct view of race Sally Haslanger argues that race is a socio political reality Chike Jeffers maintains that race is not only political but also importantly cultural Quayshawn Spencer pursues the idea that race is biologically real And Joshua Glasgow argues that either race is not real or if it is it must be real in a way that is neither social nor biological Each offers an argument for their own view and then replies to the others Woven together the result is a lively debate that opens up numerous ways of understanding race Above all it is call for sophisticated and principled discussion of something that significantly permeates our lives

For the Family?
