Rothenberg, 2004 Race Class and Gender in the United States An Integrated Study presents students with a compelling clear study of issues of race gender and sexuality within the context of class Rothenberg offers students 126 readings each providing different perspectives and examining the ways in which race gender class and sexuality are socially constructed Rothenberg deftly and consistently helps students analyze each phenomena as well as the relationships among them thereby deepening their understanding of each issue surrounding race and ethnicity Relational Formations of Race Natalia Molina, Daniel Martinez HoSang, Ramón A. Gutiérrez, 2019-02-05 Relational Formations of Race brings African American Chicanx Latinx Asian American and Native American studies together in a single volume enabling readers to consider the racialization and formation of subordinated groups in relation to one another These essays conceptualize racialization as a dynamic and interactive process group based racial constructions are formed not only in relation to whiteness but also in relation to other devalued and marginalized groups The chapters offer explicit guides to understanding race as relational across all disciplines time periods regions and social groups By studying race relationally and through a shared context of meaning and power students will draw connections among subordinated groups and will better comprehend the logic that underpins the forms of inclusion and dispossession such groups face As the United States shifts toward a minority majority nation Relational Formations of Race offers crucial tools for understanding today's shifting race dynamics Mixed Race Identities in Asia and the Pacific Zarine L. Rocha, 2015-10-08 Mixed race is becoming an important area for research and there is a growing body of work in the North American and British contexts However understandings and experiences of mixed race across different countries and regions are not often explored in significant depth New Zealand and Singapore provide important contexts for investigation as two multicultural yet structurally divergent societies Within these two countries mixed race describes a particularly interesting label for individuals of mixed Chinese and European parentage This book explores the concept of mixed race for people of mixed Chinese and European descent looking at how being Chinese and or European can mean many different things in different contexts By looking at different communities in Singapore and New Zealand it investigates how individuals of mixed heritage fit into or are excluded from these communities Increasingly individuals of mixed ancestry are opting to identify outside of traditionally defined racial categories posing a challenge to systems of racial classification and to sociological understandings of race As case studies Singapore and New Zealand provide key examples of the complex relationship between state categorization and individual identities The book explores the divergences between identity and classification and the ways in which identity labels affect experiences of mixed race in everyday life Personal stories reveal the creative and flexible ways in which people cross boundaries and the everyday negotiations between classification heritage experience and nation in defining identity The study is based on qualitative research including in depth interviews with people of mixed heritage in both countries Filling an important gap in the literature by using an Asia Pacific dimension this study of race and ethnicity will appeal to students and scholars of mixed race studies ethnicity Chinese diaspora and cultural anthropology Class and Inequality in the United States Berch Berberoglu,2024-09-18 Highlighting the need to find solutions for current problems in American society moving forward Berch Berberoglu provides a captivating read for anyone interested in understanding how working people today can have a lasting impact on a better and more equitable society in the future A Cultural History of Race in the Renaissance and Early Modern Age Kimberly Ann Coles,Dorothy Kim,2023-06-01 The past is always an interpretive act from the lens of the present Through the lens of critical race theory the essays collected here explore new analytical models theoretical frameworks and methodological approaches in attempting to reimagine the European Renaissance and early modern periods in terms of global expansion awareness and participation Centering race in these periods requires that we acknowledge the people against whom social hierarchies and differential treatment were directed This collection takes Europe as its focus but White Europeans are not centred in it and the experiences of Black Africans Asians Jews and Muslims are not relegated to the margins of a shared history Situating Europe within a global context forces the reconsideration of the violence that attends the interaction of peoples both across cultures and enmeshed within them The less we are attentive to the cultural interactions cross cultural migrations and global dimensions of the late medieval and early modern periods the less we are forced to recognize the violence intolerance power struggles and enforced suppressions that attend them

Identity Politics in the United States Khalilah L. Brown-Dean, 2019-09-20 In 2017 a white supremacist rally at the University of Virginia forced many to consider how much progress had been made in a country that nine years prior had elected its first Black president Beyond these racial flashpoints the increasingly polarized nature of US politics has reignited debates around the meaning of identity citizenship and acceptance in America today In this pioneering book Khalilah L Brown Dean moves beyond the headlines to examine how contemporary controversies emanate from longstanding struggles over power access and belonging Using intersectionality as an organizing framework she draws on current tensions such as voter suppression the Me Too movement the Standing Rock protests marriage equality military service the rise of the Religious Right protests by professional athletes and battles over immigration to show how conflicts over group identity are an inescapable feature of American political development Brown Dean explores issues of citizenship race ethnicity gender sexual identity and religion to argue that democracy in the United States is built upon the battle of ideas related to how we see ourselves how we see others and the mechanisms available to reinforce those distinctions Identity Politics in the United States will be an essential resource for students and engaged citizens who want to understand the link between historical context contemporary political challenges and paths to move toward a stronger democracy

The Company We Keep Grace Kao, Kara Joyner, Kelly Stamper Balistreri, 2019-10-24 With hate crimes on the rise and social movements like Black Lives Matter bringing increased attention to the issue of police brutality the American public continues to be divided by issues of race How do adolescents and young adults form friendships and romantic relationships that bridge the racial divide In The Company We Keep sociologists Grace Kao Kara Joyner and Kelly Stamper Balistreri examine how race gender socioeconomic status and other factors affect the formation of interracial friendships and romantic relationships among youth They highlight two factors that increase the likelihood of interracial romantic relationships in young adulthood attending a diverse school and having an interracial friendship or romance in adolescence While research on interracial social ties has often focused on whites and blacks Hispanics are the largest minority group and Asian Americans are the fastest growing racial group in the United States The Company We Keep examines friendships and romantic relationships among blacks whites Hispanics and Asian Americans to better understand the full spectrum of contemporary race relations Using data from the National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent to Adult Health the authors explore the social ties of more than 15 000 individuals from their first survey responses as middle and high school students in the mid 1990s through young adulthood nearly fifteen years later They find that while approval for interracial marriages has increased and is nearly universal among young people interracial friendships and romantic relationships remain relatively rare especially for whites and blacks Black women are particularly disadvantaged in forming interracial romantic relationships while Asian men are disadvantaged in the formation of any romantic relationships both as adolescents and as young adults They also find that people in same sex romantic relationships are more likely to have partners from a different racial group than are people in different sex relationships The authors pay close attention to how the formation of interracial friendships and romantic relationships depends on opportunities for interracial contact They find that the number of students choosing different race friends and romantic partners is greater in schools that are more racially diverse indicating that school segregation has a profound impact on young people s social ties Kao Joyner and Balistreri analyze the ways school diversity and adolescent interracial contact intersect to lay the groundwork for interracial relationships in young adulthood The Company We Keep provides compelling insights and hope for the future of living and loving across racial divides
