Dept. of Forestry,1983 Marine Pollution - Monitoring, Management and Mitigation Amanda

Reichelt-Brushett,2023-05-11 The study of marine environments inevitably involves considering the problem of marine pollution which includes questions that focus on the essential need to ensure the long term health of these exceptional ecosystems and the lives and livelihoods they support The open access textbook Marine Pollution monitoring management and mitigation approaches these questions in a practical and highly readable format It gives newcomers to the field background and perspective through the first comprehensive multidisciplinary exploration of the topic The topic is indeed complex requiring the integration of the natural sciences and chemistry with management policymakers industry and all of us who are users of the marine environment The textbook was written by leading experts to especially prepare graduates for a career in marine pollution studies At the same time it is relevant for anyone invested in the marine environment with a will to reduce their impacts The chapters can easily be used independently and are also connected through the cross referencing of related content The introductory chapter provides a historical account of marine pollution and explores the fundamental physicochemical conditions of seawater Two full chapters cover the requisite resources for ensuring success in field and laboratory studies Then chapter by chapter the book dives into to the various types of marine pollutants In closing it discusses the challenges of understanding multiple stressors and presents mitigation and restoration practices along with a global overview of marine pollution legislation We envisioned this textbook as being open access for the very reason we created it this topic calls for global contributions and champions and financial restraints should not limit access to this knowledge Primate Research and Conservation in the Anthropocene Alison M. Behie,Julie A. Teichroeb,Nicholas

Malone,2019-01-31 This book takes a new approach to understanding primate conservation research adding a personal perspective to allow readers to learn what motivates those doing conservation work When entering the field over a decade ago many young primatologists were driven by evolutionary questions centered in behavioural ecology However given the current environment of cascading extinctions and increasing threats to primates we now need to ensure that primates remain in viable populations in the wild before we can simply engage in research in the context of pure behavioural ecology This has changed the primary research aims of many primatologists and shifted our focus to conservation priorities such as understanding the impacts of human activity habitat conversion or climate change on primates This book presents personal narratives alongside empirical research results and discussions of strategies used to stem the tide of extinction It is a must have for anyone interested in conservation research
