Writing Human Factors Research Papers Don Harris, 2016-12-05 Writing high quality papers suitable for publication within international scientific journals is now an essential skill for all early career researchers their career progression and the reputation of the department in which they work depends upon it However many manuscripts are rejected or sent back for major re working not because the science they contain is in any way bad but because the same problems keep occurring in the way that the material is presented It is one thing to write a good scientific paper however it is quite another thing to get it published This requires some additional nous In writing this book Don Harris draws upon nearly a quarter of a century of experience as an author and reviewer of research papers and ultimately as a journal editor By his own admission it contains all the things he wished that his mentors had told him 25 years ago but didn't The material in the book is drawn from many years of finding all these things out for himself usually by trial and error but mostly error The text adopts a much lighter touch than is normally found in books of this type after all who really wants to read a book about writing research papers The author describes his own unique approach to writing journal papers which in his own words has proved to be extremely successful All major points are illustrated with examples from his own published works The book is written in the form of a manual for constructing a journal manuscript read a chapter write a section However the material it contains goes beyond just this and also describes how to select a target journal the manuscript submission process what referees are looking for in a good journal paper and how to deal with the referees comments Each chapter concludes with a checklist to ensure all the key elements have been addressed Research Methods and Thesis Writing' 2007 Ed. ,2007 Nutrition Research: Concepts and Applications Karen Eich Drummond, Alison Reyes, Natalie K. Contemporary Trends Dariusz Zarzecki, Marek Jabłoński, 2020-12-29 Sustainable value management reveals a new space for studying business models The traditional approach is based on the assumption that the goal of any business is to make money All decisions regarding supply and production should be made to maximize profit The discrepancy in creating non economic value is sometimes the result of separating ownership from control over an enterprise Although shareholders are interested in maximizing profit management that actually makes decisions can also pursue other goals In addition to economic aspects the management intentions of modern managers are also influenced by factors arising from the organizational culture built co created within the organization and sometimes with the participation of external actors such as suppliers and customers The sources of the creation of social values will be the management intentions of top management often initiated by the adopted values and rules on the basis of which resources are bound within the structure of the business model The value of sustainability is based on the identification of those creative sources that relate to economic and social value Economic value is created through social value and vice versa This allows the complementarity of the value created to be mutually supportive The business model that integrates both of these values should be more resistant to crises than the one that is oriented only toward producing economic value Concurrent implementation of economic and social goals increases resilience and affects the success of modern business models This is due to the specificity of the business ecosystem that is built as part of the business model which in essence is based on the use of social factors to merge the business model into a complex ecosystem capable of producing value 32 UGC NET Previous Papers (Teaching & Research Aptitude Paper-1) Mocktime Publication, 32 UGC NET Previous Papers Teaching Research Aptitude Paper 1
