Rapoport, 2017-01-06 In this book first published in 1971 the authors show from first hand studies of family and working life and with evidence from many countries including the socialist societies of Eastern Europe the nature of the discrimination facing women in the professions and how various family and employment patterns might contribute to solving it Their point is not that some new stereotype should be substituted for traditional views of the role of husbands and wives different patterns fit different situations The New Institutional Architecture of Eastern Europe Stephen Whitefield, 2016-07-27 The book is concerned with the formation of new institutions in Eastern Europe following the events of 1989 Two comparative chapters discuss the problems of institution building arising from the communist legacy and the difficulties of a successful transition to liberal democracy In the remainder of the book country specific chapters deal with the institutional characteristics of countries in the region Yugoslavia Czechoslovakia Poland Hungary Bulgaria Romania Russia East Germany Attention is focused on constitutions executive and parliament relations and parties and electoral systems The Shape of Social Inequality David Bills, 2005-08-24 This volume brings together former students colleagues and others influenced by the sociological scholarship of Archibald O Haller to celebrate Haller s many contributions to theory and research on social stratification and mobility All of the chapters respond to Haller s programmatic agenda for stratification research A full program aimed at understanding stratification requires first that we know what stratification structures consist of and how they may vary second that we identify the individual and collective consequences of the different states and rates of change of such structures and third seeing that some degree of stratification seems to be present everywhere that we identify the factors that make stratification structures change The contributors to this Festschrift address such topics as the changing nature of stratification regimes the enduring significance of class analysis the stratifying dimensions of race ethnicity and gender and
