The New Frontier Investors Jagdeep Singh Bachher, Adam D. Dixon, Ashby H. B. Monk, 2016-06-29 Who holds the power in financial markets For many the answer would probably be the large investment banks big asset managers and hedge funds These are the organizations that are in the media's spotlight and whose leaders and employees command outsized salaries and bonuses They are the supposed leading edge of global finance and their power seems almost absolute even as questions abound about their social and economic utility But more and more asset owners are confronting the status quo the power to exact high fees and the focus on the short term The New Frontier Investors chronicles the rise of this new group of long horizon asset owners that includes some of the world's largest pension funds sovereign wealth funds and endowments These asset owners are driving the business of asset management to a new frontier by retaking responsibility of the end to end management of their investment portfolios and by re conceptualizing investment decision making The lessons illustrated in The New Frontier Investors fly in the face of conventional wisdom which has it that these asset owners are at a disadvantage to the private sector fund managers and other service providers These asset owners are supposedly not able to attract talent nor do they have the organizational capabilities to compete That many are located far from the markets in which they invest only exacerbates the problem But this is incorrect This expanding group of asset owners is learning how to make the most of their scale and long time horizons finding new ways to attract talent to collaborate and to build greater alignment with the users of capital They are not at a disadvantage They are at an advantage The New Frontier Investors is

The WPA Guide to Michigan Federal Writers' Project, 2013-10-31 During the 1930s in the United States, the Works Progress Administration developed the Federal Writers' Project to support writers and artists while making a national effort to document the country's shared history and culture. The American Guide series consists of individual guides to each of the states. Little-known authors, many of whom would later become celebrated literary figures, were commissioned to write these important books. John Steinbeck, Saul Bellow, Zora Neale Hurston, and Ralph Ellison are among the more than 6,000 writers, editors, historians, and researchers who documented this celebration of local histories. Photographs, drawings, driving tours, detailed descriptions of towns, and rich cultural details exhibit each state's unique flavor. Published in 1941, the WPA Guide to Michigan documents the rich history and economies of the Great Lake State. From the Upper Peninsula to the Lower and the Straits of Mackinac, between the guide features many photographs of the distinctive geography, as well as essays about marine lore, architecture, and in the essay on Detroit, the nation's burgeoning auto industry.
