Exposure to Herbicides (Ninth Biennial Update), 2014-03-06 From 1962 to 1971 the US military sprayed herbicides over Vietnam to strip the thick jungle canopy that could conceal opposition forces to destroy crops that those forces might depend on and to clear tall grasses and bushes from the perimeters of US base camps and outlying fire support bases. Mixtures of 2,4-dichlorophenoxyacetic acid (2,4-D), 2,4,5-trichlorophenoxyacetic acid (2,4,5-T), picloram and cacodylic acid made up the bulk of the herbicides sprayed. The main chemical mixture sprayed was Agent Orange, a 50/50 mixture of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T. At the time of the spraying, 2,3,7,8-tetrachlorodibenzo-p-dioxin (TCDD), the most toxic form of dioxin, was an unintended contaminant generated during the production of 2,4,5-T and so was present in Agent Orange and some other formulations sprayed in Vietnam. Because of complaints from returning Vietnam veterans about their own health and that of their children, combined with emerging toxicologic evidence of adverse effects of phenoxy herbicides and TCDD, the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) was asked to perform a comprehensive evaluation of scientific and medical information regarding the health effects of exposure to Agent Orange, other herbicides used in Vietnam, and the various components of those herbicides, including TCDD. Updated evaluations are conducted every two years to review newly available literature and draw conclusions from the overall evidence. Veterans and Agent Orange Update 2012 reviews peer-reviewed scientific reports concerning associations between health outcomes and exposure to TCDD and other chemicals in the herbicides used in Vietnam that were published in October 2010, September 2012, and integrates this information with the previously established evidence database. This report considers whether a statistical association with herbicide exposure exists, taking into account the strength of the scientific evidence and the appropriateness of the statistical and epidemiological methods used to detect the association, the increased risk of disease among those exposed to herbicides during service in the Republic of Vietnam during the Vietnam era, and whether there exists a plausible biological mechanism or other evidence of a causal relationship between herbicide exposure and the disease.

Unmitigated Disaster Louis D. Cruz, 2012-10-12 A story of America is moving forward. And NOW that word forward happens to be the slogan of the very man that Republican Willard Mitt Romney is trying to unseat. America the Party of NO has a man who will insist to see your ID Birth Certificate but won't release his Tax Returns, at the least 5-6 of them, so the voting electorate will know how to trust him. There are many perfectly legal ways for all weasels to get out of paying taxes. Especially if you can afford armies of creative accountants to find them all. In our own Country's Congressional Leaders, there is Nothing but shameless lies and dishonor. That explains what's going on here. If election in November is to be decided on the several issues, Robme the Romney and Ryan the Lying, along with the remaining hostile Republicans, should stay away from foreign policy this next four years. Even drifting into that realm risks reminding voters of Obama's clear advantage in leadership. America Bush has been out of office for almost 4 years, are YOU really going to continue to blame him? This is what the Republicans are saying. Honestly, if that's where the blame lies, absolutely. It wouldn't matter even if it's been 100, 200, or 300 years since George W. the Idiot Bush has been out of office, there will STILL remain too many unanswered questions Pesticides and Health Neil Pearce, 2022-06-07 New Zealand has been one of the world's heaviest users of pesticides including some contaminated with dioxin a notorious toxic chemical In this BWB Text a leading epidemiologist uses the example of dioxin to illustrate how badly New Zealand handles problems of environmental pollutants and why we can do better Concern with public health has been recast by the Covid 19 pandemic Neil Pearce's eye opening account of our country's ongoing failures in environmental protection shows there is much more work to be done
