

Sample Reflective Essay

Author: Nekisa Mahzad

I have been a student at California State University Channel Islands (CI) for 5 semesters, and over the course of my stay I have grown and learned more than I thought possible. I came to this school from Moorpark Community College already knowing that I wanted to be an English teacher; I had taken numerous English courses and though I knew exactly what I was headed for-was I ever wrong. Going through the English program has taught me so much more than stuff about literature and language, it has taught me how to be me. I have learned here how to write and express myself, how to think for myself, and how to find the answers to the things that I don't know. Most importantly I have learned how important literature and language are.

When I started at CI, I thought I was going to spend the next 3 years reading classics, discussing them and then writing about them. That was what I did in community college English courses, so I didn't think it would be much different here. On the surface, to an outsider, I am sure that this is what it appears that C.I. English majors do. In most all my classes I did read, discuss, and write papers; however, I quickly found out that that there was so much more to it. One specific experience I had while at C.I. really shows how integrated this learning is. Instead of writing a paper for my final project in Perspectives of Multicultural Literature (ENGL 449), I decided with a friend to venture to an Indian reservation and compare it to a book we read by Sherman Alexie. We had a great time and we learned so much more that we ever could have done from writing a paper. The opportunity to do that showed me that there are so many ways that one can learn that are both fun and educational.

The English courses also taught me how powerful the written word and language can be. Words tell so much more than a story. Stories tell about life and the human condition, they bring up the past and people and cultures that are long gone. Literature teaches about the self and the world surrounding the self. From these classes I learned about the world, its people and its history; through literature I learned how we as humans are all related. By writing about what we learn and/or what we believe, we are learning how to express ourselves.

I know that my ability to write and express my ideas, thoughts and knowledge has grown stronger each semester. I have always struggled to put my thoughts on paper in a manner that is coherent and correct according to assignments. I can remember being told numerous times in community college to "organize your

The Course Reflection Project Nicole Schonemann, Emily Metzgar, Andrew Libby, 2015-05-01 Service learning is entering a post initiatory phase At tertiary institutions of all types and sizes service learning programs are common and service learning requirements for graduation are growing in popularity Taken together alongside continued faculty interest in effective teaching these factors have raised the visibility and popularity of service learning Now the greater need in service learning is not to prove the need for or efficacy of service learning but to turn the focus squarely back on practice Following established best practice is not enough instructors also need to reflect on how this fits within the specific context and application of each unique course and service learning partnership While there are many excellent resources that detail best practice and showcase exemplary service learning courses faculty reflection and course revision often goes unmentioned In response to the lack of attention on the role of reflection and course revision we convened groups of faculty from a variety of disciplines to reflect deeply on their courses paying specific attention to obstacles and challenges These conversations were converted to articles for this edited collection each chapter representing the process of reflection and revision and serving as a guide to develop effective practice in varied curricular contexts This text contributes to the body of literature on service learning in a unique and practical manner Faculty teaching or interested in teaching service learning classes would benefit from this text as well as university administrators and community service directors involved in service learning at a programmatic and institutional level This book should be marketed to faculty teaching disciplinary service learning classes and service learning pedagogy classes and administrative offices involved in service learning This could be a supplementary text for graduate level pedagogy courses Higher education institutional libraries would benefit from this text as well as the national and state campus compact offices

Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons, 2010-04-07

Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it is necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning In its opening pages two seasoned educators Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention Thoreau's wide awakeness an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves their work particularly in the form of life projects and others Building on this foundation the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors Definitional issues concerning reflection what it is and is not Worldwide social and moral conditions contributing to the growing interest in reflective inquiry in professional education Reflection as promoted across professional educational domains including K 12 education teacher education occupational therapy and the law Methods of facilitating and scaffolding reflective engagement Current pedagogical and research practices in reflection Approaches to assessing reflective inquiry Educators across the professions as well as adult educators counselors and psychologists and curriculum developers concerned with adult learning will find the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry an invaluable teaching tool for challenging times Developing Reflective TESOL Practitioners Through Teacher Education Andrzej Cirocki, Mark Wyatt, Xuesong (Andy) Gao, 2024-06-26 This textbook provides insights from Asian contexts into how reflective practice is nurtured on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL and English Language Teaching ELT teacher education programmes There is increasing recognition worldwide that given the centrality of reflective practice to teachers ongoing professional development supporting teachers to become reflective practitioners should be integral to teacher education programmes Consequently tertiary level courses in areas such as TESOL and ELT tend to promote reflective practice supported by theoretical input from the burgeoning literature on reflection much of which is produced in the West Relatively under represented in the literature are global perspectives on reflective practice there are consequently relatively few accounts as to how reflective practice is embedded in teacher education programmes in different parts of the world including Asia Hence this book addresses a gap Contributing authors from fourteen countries provide insights into the ways in which teachers are helped to grow as reflective practitioners on their teacher education programmes in their unique contexts This textbook showcases how reflective teaching practices are developed supported by frameworks for critical reflection and in interaction with local educational policies These distinctive accounts aid readers in reflecting on the ways in which reflective practice is supported in their own teacher education contexts and in considering ways of enhancing the reflective dimension of their programmes This textbook showcases innovative reflective activities and can be used as a principal text or as supplemental reading on a range of TESOL and ELT teacher education courses Quick Hits for Service-Learning M. A. Cooksey, Kimberly T. Olivares, 2010-11-15 Service learning the integration of classroom instruction with community service projects is rapidly gaining momentum as a successful teaching and learning strategy that benefits both students and their communities Quick Hits for Service Learning presents more than 80 examples of innovative curricula developed by educators in a wide range of disciplines designed to combine community service with instruction and reflection Seven chapters offer tips for classroom activities that focus on the education of children and youth civic awareness engagement and activism language literature and communication global studies and local outreach to exceptional populations the study of history the social sciences and the arts business industry and the health sciences and the teaching of research and other tools of the trade Brimming with ideas that busy faculty members can easily adapt to their own classrooms this book is a valuable reference for faculty new to the field or seasoned practitioners looking for fresh ideas Critical Assessment and Strategies for Increased Student Retention Black, Ruth Claire, 2017-11-30 Student retention has become a difficult issue within higher education As such it is imperative to examine the causes as well as provide educators with strategies to implement to improve retention rates Critical Assessment and Strategies for Increased Student Retention is a pivotal reference source for the latest progressive research on a variety of current student success and attendance perpetuation issues. Teaching and Facilitating Retreats with Caesar Meg Gorzycki, 2017-10-12 This manual provides educators and retreat facilitators with questions for guided reflection and discussion and with ideas about how to orchestrate conversations based on these reflections. The material illuminates some considerations instructors and facilitators may address as they plan for courses and retreats. This guide will help instructors and facilitators plan lessons and activities that aim to enrich scholarship, critical thinking, and personal spiritual development.

Strategies for Growing and Enhancing University-Level Japanese Programs Fumie Kato, 2020-01-24 Strategies for Growing and Enhancing University Level Japanese Programs offers foreign language program managers and directors as well as teachers of less commonly taught languages the insights and proven practical actions they can take to enhance and grow their language programs. Using the Japanese program at UNC Charlotte as the primary case study, author Fumie Kato provides step by step instructions on how she grew the Japanese program there from 133 students per semester in 2002 to 515 students per semester in 2017 from a program with just one full time professor and one part time faculty member to a faculty of seven full time and three part time members. While Japanese is the example used in the book, the principles can be applied by anyone managing foreign language, less commonly taught language programs who wishes to expand their program and raise their students' success rates. The book is therefore of interest to instructors, coordinators, and directors of foreign language education programs throughout the world.

Expanding Elementary Teacher Education through Service-Learning Margaret-Mary Sulentic Dowell, Tynisha D. Meidl, 2016-11-16 Teacher education programs and colleges of education face a multilayered task of preparing teachers to teach in increasingly divergent environments where children of color encompass a significant number of urban school populations. Yet the teaching force remains predominantly white, middle income, monolingual, and female. Compounding this complex issue, the racial and the socio-economic makeup of many teacher education faculty mirrors the teacher candidate population. The goal of this handbook is to offer teacher educators a blue print for strengthening and extending traditional literacy field experiences to include service learning components. As literacy teacher educators, Sulentic Dowell and Meidl demonstrate how teacher education can be transformed to include more authentic, meaningful, and preparatory field experiences. Adding service learning components expands teacher education to more adequately prepare elementary education candidates to meet children's needs in 21st century urban elementary classrooms. This handbook considers the need to redefine and reconfigure teacher education in regards to literacy teaching and learning.

Using Reflection and Metacognition to Improve Student Learning Naomi Silver, Matthew Kaplan, Danielle LaVaque-Manty, Deborah

Meizlish,2023-07-03 Research has identified the importance of helping students develop the ability to monitor their own comprehension and to make their thinking processes explicit and indeed demonstrates that metacognitive teaching strategies greatly improve student engagement with course material This book by presenting principles that teachers in higher education can put into practice in their own classrooms explains how to lay the ground for this engagement and help students become self regulated learners actively employing metacognitive and reflective strategies in their education Key elements include embedding metacognitive instruction in the content matter being explicit about the usefulness of metacognitive activities to provide the incentive for students to commit to the extra effort as well as following through consistently Recognizing that few teachers have a deep understanding of metacognition and how it functions and still fewer have developed methods for integrating it into their curriculum this book offers a hands on user friendly guide for implementing metacognitive and reflective pedagogy in a range of disciplines Offering seven practitioner examples from the sciences technology engineering and mathematics STEM fields the social sciences and the humanities along with sample syllabi course materials and student examples this volume offers a range of strategies for incorporating these pedagogical approaches in college classrooms as well as theoretical rationales for the strategies presented By providing successful models from courses in a broad spectrum of disciplines the editors and contributors reassure readers that they need not reinvent the wheel or fear the unknown but can instead adapt tested interventions that aid learning and have been shown to improve both instructor and student satisfaction and engagement
