QUESTION A 60-year-old male with a 20-year history of type 2 diabetes mellitus presents with a 2-week history of increasing fatigue, weight loss, and decreased appetite. He reports that he has been unable to eat as much as he used to and has lost about 10 pounds. He also mentions that he has been feeling more thirsty and urinating more frequently than usual. His medical history is significant for hypertension, hyperlipidemia, and chronic kidney disease (stage 3). He is currently taking metformin, lisinopril, and atorvastatin. His last hemoglobin A1c was 8.5%.

ANSWER The patient's symptoms and history are highly suggestive of hyperglycemia and its complications. The weight loss, decreased appetite, and increased thirst and urination are classic signs of uncontrolled diabetes. The fact that his A1c was 8.5% further supports this. The chronic kidney disease may also contribute to the fatigue and weight loss. The first step in management would be to check his blood glucose levels and adjust his insulin therapy. It is also important to monitor his kidney function and manage his other comorbidities.
