The Few. The Proud. Sara Sheldon, 2007-11-30 On a dark night in February 2005 Sara Sheldon arrived at Camp Fallujah outside the dangerous ancient city for which it was named Armed only with a camera a laptop and notepads she was a spectator to the war who secured permission to embed with the 1st MEF and observe and interview Marines who happened to be women then posted at Camp Fallujah In the time she spent there Sheldon interviewed women who held ranks from corporal to colonel to gain a broad and varied perspective of the experiences representative of female Marines throughout Iraq She reveals much about her subjects the preconceived notions they possessed when they enlisted in the Corps how the experience of serving in Iraq changed them and what they ultimately took home from the battlefield Americans are aware that women are actively serving in the armed forces but few understand what exactly is expected of women in the military

the duties they perform and the limitations and restrictions placed on them especially in a combat zone Sheldon reveals much about her subjects In some ways they mirrored their male counterparts Some enlisted only for four years to receive educational benefits or for an opportunity to escape their home environment Others made the Corps their career serving as commissioned officers Still others were recalled to active duty to serve with their representative Guard units Sheldon uncovers their stories the preconceived notions they possessed when they enlisted in the Corps how the experience of serving in Iraq has changed them and what they ultimately took home from the battlefield She also sheds light on the day to day grind all American service personnel face in Iraq Yet she never loses her main focus Far removed from the Green Zone Sheldon and her subjects spent their days in harm s way but she avoids a running commentary on policy Instead she remains committed to examining how women tasked with field duties and various missions at the lower levels of command are impacted by their experiences

Taking It to the Streets Jennifer Baldwin, 2018-12-18 Taking It to the Streets Public Theologies of Activism and Resistance is an edited volume that explores the critical intersection of public theology political theology and communal practices of activism and political resistance This volume functions as a sister companion to the text Religion and Science as Political Theology Navigating Post Truth and Alternative Facts and focuses on public civic performative action as a response to experiences of injustice and diminishments of humanity There are periods in a nation s civil history when the tides of social unrest rise into waves upon waves of public activism and resistance of the dominant uses of power In American history activism and public action including and extending beyond the Women s Suffrage the Million Man March protests against the Vietnam War the Civil Rights Movement Boston Tea Party Black Lives Matter the Stonewall Rebellion are hallmarks of transitional or liminal moments in our development as a society Critical periods marked by increases in public activism and political resistance are opportunities for a society to once again decide who we will be as a people Will we move towards a more perfect union in which all persons gain freedom in fulfilling their potential or will we choose the perceived safety of the status quo and established norms of power Whose voices will be heard Whose will be silenced through intimidation or harm Ultimately these are theological questions Like other forms of non textual research subjects movement dance performance art public activism requires a set of research lenses that are often neglected in theological and religious studies Attention to bodies as a category performance or epistemological vehicle is sorely lacking so it is no wonder that attention to the mass of moving bodies in activism is largely absent Activism and public political resistance are a hallmark of our current social webbing and deserve scholarly attention
