Satterthwaite, Jayne Huckerby, 2013-02-15 In the name of fighting terrorism countries have been invaded wars have been waged people have been detained rendered and tortured and campaigns for hearts and minds have been unleashed Human rights analyses of the counter terrorism measures implemented in the aftermath of 11 September 2001 have assumed that men suffer the most both numerically and in terms of the nature of rights violations endured This assumption has obscured the ways that women men and sexual minorities experience counter terrorism By integrating gender into a human rights analysis of counter terrorism and human rights into a gendered analysis of counter terrorism this volume aims to reverse this trend Through this variegated human rights lens the authors in this volume identify the spectrum and nature of rights violations arising in the context of gendered counter terrorism and national security practices Introduced with a foreword by Martin Scheinin former UN Special Rapporteur on Human Rights and Counter Terrorism the volume examines a wide range of gendered impacts of counter terrorism measures that have not been theorized in the leading texts on terrorism counter terrorism national security and human rights Gender National Security and Counter Terrorism will be of particular interest to scholars and students in the disciplines of Law Security Studies and Gender Studies Recovering Police Legitimacy Rafe McGregor, 2024-07-11 Transatlantic policing is experiencing an unprecedented crisis of legitimacy epitomised by public responses to the murders of George Floyd and Sarah Everard during the COVID 19 pandemic Legitimacy is lost when the police either fail to protect the public or rely on coercion rather than consent to achieve that protection Recovering Police Legitimacy challenges conventional criminological political and public solutions to the problem by approaching it from the bottom up beginning with policing as a practice constituted by a unique set of excellences skills and characteristics The author draws on his experience as a police officer and on the serial fictions of James Ellroy David Peace and Nic Pizzolatto to characterise the practice in terms of heroic struggle edgework absolute sacrifice and worldmaking These characteristics provide an analytic tool for revolutionising our understanding of the relations among policing as a situated practice public protection and police legitimacy and for identifying the different levels at which legitimacy is undermined His conclusion is that recovery is possible but will be slow in pace and incomplete in scope Written accessibly for students police officers policymakers scholars and anyone with an interest in police legitimacy this is a groundbreaking study of a pressing social problem The New Normal Amitai Etzioni, 2014-11-05 Amitai Etzioni argues that societies must find a way to balance individual rights and the common good This point of balance may change as new technologies develop the natural and international environments change and new social forces arise Some believe the United States may be unduly shortchanging individual rights that need to be better protected Specifically should the press be granted more protection Or should its ability to publish state secrets be limited Should surveillance of Americans and others be curtailed Should American terrorists be treated differently from others How one answers these questions Etzioni shows invites a larger fundamental question Where is the proper point of balance between rights and security Etzioni implements the social philosophy liberal communitarianism Its key assumptions are that neither individual rights nor the common good should be privileged that both are core values and that a balance is necessary between them Etzioni argues that we need to find a new balance between our desire for more goods services and affluence particularly because economic growth may continue to be slow and jobs anemic The key question is what makes a good life especially for those whose basic needs are sated The Power to Arrest Robin S. Engel, Robert E. Worden, Nicholas Corsaro, Hannah D. McManus, Danielle Reynolds, Hannah Cochran, Gabrielle T. Isaza, Jennifer Calnon Cherkauskas, 2019-07-06 This insightful volume examines key research questions concerning police decision to arrest as well as police led diversion The authors critically evaluate the tentative answers that empirical evidence provides to those questions and suggest areas for future inquiry Nearly seven decades of empirical study have provided extensive knowledge regarding police use of arrest However this research highlights important gaps in our understanding of factors that shape police decision making and what is required to alter current police practice Reviewing this research base this brief takes stock of what is known empirically about all aspects related to the use of arrests providing important insights on the knowledge needed to make evidence based policy decisions moving forward With the potential to better impact policy and programs for alternatives to arrest this brief will appeal to researchers and practitioners in evidence based policing and police decision making as well as those interested in alternatives to arrest and related fields such as public policy
