Iran, Israel, and the United States Ofira Seliktar, Farhad Rezaei, 2018-06-20 This book analyzes the process of evaluating Iran's nuclear project and the efforts to roll it back resulting in the 2015 nuclear agreement known as the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action JCPOA. Despite its aura of scientific exactitude nuclear intelligence is complex and susceptible to methodological disagreements and political bias at the international oversight level the International Atomic Energy Agency IAEA and within the countries involved in the rollback project Israel and the United States. To highlight both the technological problems of assessing compliance and the politicization each chapter in the book uses a real time comparison of the nuclear developments in Iran and the perception of Israel and the United States. This methodology yielded some significant results. Essentially two camps had formed in each country those who were pushing for an agreement with Iran and those who opposed it. The Israeli intelligence agencies the Mossad and the Military Intelligence as well as the highly secretive Israeli Atomic Energy Commission IAEC which advised them considered the program to be weak and slow moving. The right wing government of Benjamin Netanyahu suggested that Iran was steps away from the point of no return making it an existential threat to Israel. A virtually identical split emerged in Washington. While the intelligence community and the advising scientists from the National Nuclear Laboratories considered Iran progress to be relatively modest the Republicans and the Israel lobby the Jewish organizations and the Christian Zionists warned of the imminent danger of a nuclear Iran. With the Obama administration pushing for the JCPOA a fierce debate took place in Congress. The Israeli intelligence and military chiefs led by the Mossad chief Meir Dagan which had previously blocked Netanyahu from a preemptive action quietly supported the agreement. In Washington the Israel lobby and the Republicans helped by Netanyahu mounted an all out effort to defeat the deal in Congress. The pro deal coalition fought back by mobilizing the scientific community military and intelligence officials the business lobby and grassroots Democrats. The JCPOA represents the first successful effort of peaceful counterproliferation. At the same time excessive politicization has clouded its legitimacy and cast doubt about its future.

Acid Mine Drainage and its Governance in the Gauteng City-Region Kerry

Bobbins, 2015-05-29 Acid mine drainage AMD has generated an enormous amount of media interest and public concern in the Gauteng City Region GCR over the last decade. However it has been framed as a narrow technical concern with government action being directed towards securing the necessary engineering and processing solutions as quickly as possible to prevent decant and treat acid mine water to industrial standards. This has arguably limited the scope for full discussion and debate on the impacts of AMD particularly for the environment and this bears implications for how AMD has been managed in the GCR. Government's immediate short and long term interventions to address AMD have been set out as a straight forward solution but over time more complex environmental concerns have emerged. Becoming more evident over the last few years is that one of the main impacts of AMD will be its effect on the overall water security in the Vaal River System VRS on which the

GCR relies for its supply of potable water Limits on water abstraction from the VRS together with the increasing need to maintain the overall water quality in the system through dilution and treatment activities means that AMD is beginning to manifest as a binding constraint on economic development and a burden on society in particular via escalating costs for water consumers Fiscal constraints are likely to see GCR residents and businesses pick up more and more of the costs associated with the treatment of AMD through the format of increased municipal tariffs With final decisions on municipal tariffs now pending the broader yet invisible impacts of AMD loom large This means that the debate has moved far beyond the issue of predicted decant in each of the Witwatersrand s mining basins Water security for the GCR and who will carry the costs associated with the long term treatment of AMD have instead taken centre stage This paper carefully updates the historical record on AMD since the publishing of a GCRO Provocation on the issue in 2010 In doing so it argues that the way in which AMD has been governed raises a flag around how the political economy of an issue such as AMD should be understood publicly debated and managed In particular it suggests that the governance of an environmental challenge such as AMD is not only about finding a technical solution The lack of platforms to ensure well informed public deliberation especially over such issues as who will pay and how must be addressed to ensure more equitable and transparent decision making In light of the broader mine waste legacy inherited by the GCR and the strong likelihood of environmental contamination becoming more commonplace in the future these concerns are not only limited to AMD They will only grow in importance over time
