The American Architect, 1918 American Architect, 1918 Love Among the Recipes Carol M. Cram, 2020-10-20

Loaded with wit and charm this fabulous jaunt through the City of Lights will leave readers breathless and longing for more from Cram Publishers Weekly Starred Review Discover love in all its flavors in this fun food infused romp through Paris that is as crisp sweet and smooth as the perfect macaron Paris may be for lovers but cookbook author Genna McGraw is definitely not looking for love She's looking for escape and she's looking for a good runny Brie to pair with a smooth Bordeaux Where better than Paris In Love Among the Recipes Genna goes to the City of Light to get away from her philandering husband and write a crossover cookbook guidebook that matches Parisian sights such as the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre with recipes for bistro style French dishes She also dabbles in romance with dishy French lawyer Pierre Leblanc and makes friends at her French class with Colorado transplant Marsha Renfrew and her snooty English boyfriend And then there's big blunt Bill Turner from Australia Does he really eat crocodile steaks for tea But when Genna's family crashes her new life in Paris a crisis forces her to choose how she wants to live Will she have the courage to embrace an uncertain future and risk losing everything

American Architect and the Architectural Review, 1892 Stained Glass Roger Rosewell, 2012-07-20 The stained glass windows of England's cathedrals and churches are masterpieces of colour and storytelling and for a thousand years they have brought meaning and beauty to worshippers and visitors alike This book traces the history of stained glass from its Anglo Saxon origins until the present day explaining how some of Europe's greatest artists have created these unique paintings with light It also offers fascinating insights into how medieval people saw stained glass A hundred beautiful photographs make this book indispensable reading for anyone interested in church or art history and a helpful gazetteer lists where to see more than 500 outstanding windows

Selected Articles, 1909 The Geometry of Creation Robert Bork, 2016-12-05 The flowering of Gothic architecture depended to a striking extent on the use of drawing as a tool of design By drawing precise blueprints with simple tools such as the compass and straightedge Gothic draftsmen were able to develop a linearized architecture of unprecedented complexity and sophistication Examination of their surviving drawings can provide valuable and remarkably intimate information about the Gothic design process Gothic drawings include compass pricks uninked construction lines and other telltale traces of the draftsman's geometrically based working method The proportions of the drawings moreover are those actually intended by the designer uncompromised by errors introduced in the construction process All of these features make these drawings ideal subjects for the study of Gothic design practice but their geometry has to date received little systematic attention This book offers a new perspective on Gothic architectural creativity It shows in a series of rigorous geometrical case studies how Gothic design evolved over time in two senses in the hours of the draftsman's labor and across the centuries of the late Middle Ages In each case study a series of computer graphics show in unprecedented detail how a medieval designer could have developed his architectural concept step by step using only basic geometrical operations Taken together these analyses demonstrate both remarkable methodological continuity across the Gothic era and the progressive development of new and sophisticated permutations on venerable design themes This rich tradition ultimately gave way in the Renaissance not because of any inherent problem with Gothic architecture but because the visual language of Classicism appealed more directly to the pretensions of Humanist princes than the more abstract geometrical order of Gothic design as the book s final chapter demonstrates Notes and Queries: a Medium of Inter-communication for Literary Men, Artists, Antiquaries, Genealogists, Etc ,1896 The Builder ,1843
