OPERATING THE CT-F750

- When hooked up to your stereo components (amplifier, tuner, turntable, etc.), you can record and play back FM or AM broadcasts, records and other program sources in stereo on this deck. In addition, you can make your own stereo recordings using an external or dynamic microphone.
- With the cassette tape loaded in the cassette holder, the tape can easily be played back or recorded from the forward direction to the reverse direction by operating the DIRECTION selector. There is also an automatic mode where the REVERSE MODE selector is used for recording continuously on both sides of the tape or for repeat playback.
- An electronic fluorescent display tube is used for the level meter. It is extremely accurate and it reacts with even sudden fluctuations in the signal level. There is a correlation between the signal strength and the length of the bar. The signals are displayed for both the left and right channels, and a switch can be used to meter either channel while the display between average and peak indication.
- Another handy feature is the SILENCE MUTE switch which stops clicking noise from being recorded on the tape when the stylus descends onto the record during a recording of a disc program or when recording an FM broadcast and tuning out the commercials.
- The deck is provided with a headphones (PIONEER) jack, and this allows you to monitor the recording or tape play with stereo headphones.
- The tape selector buttons permit full justice to be given to the characteristics of metal tapes, chrome tapes, ferrite-chrome tapes and standard tapes. They can also be used for recording and playback with the bare minimum of distortion.
- The Dolby noise reduction system* serves to cut out a great deal of that irritating tape hiss in the high frequency range without sacrificing the sound quality of the program source (it yields a 10dB improvement in the high frequency sound range). This system expands the dynamic range and makes it possible to record and play back sources with a high signal-to-noise ratio.
- The deck comes with an unattended recording function which can be used along with the timer for unattended recording and wake-up to the sound of a tape being played back instead of the usual alarm clock.
