Introduction

The Touro University Nevada (TUN) Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program incorporates a baccalaureate structure where candidates are primed for roles in leadership or administrative positions in regards to organizations, systems, and populations. Nonetheless, graduates are not involved in direct patient care throughout their DNP education. Instead, the students utilize their knowledge and skills for purposes of aiding ascertaining the system and organizational level challenges including the development of evidence-based interventions to counter such problems. The execution of these responsibilities mandates the attainment of competency in organizational evaluation methodologies while also integrating the proficient level of knowledge that is pertinent to biological, nursing and behavioral sciences. The American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) stipulates the essentials for a DNP program including the requirements for completing the project that encompasses scholarly work within the program. Pundits argue that the DNP project is customized to achieve the same milestones that a dissertation delivers for Ph.D. graduates. Moreover, a DNP program ensures that the graduate is conversant with the accountability measures that guarantee quality health care and the safety of patients within the populations in which they are to work. Such processes may be achieved through the use of advanced communication proficiencies which ultimately guarantee that patient health care and quality of service is heightened as an embodiment of initiatives in health care systems (Fain, Asselin & McCurry, 2008).
