

7 Social Worker Interview Questions and Answers

What kinds of clients do you find most difficult to work with and why?

Being a social worker is stressful, and many social workers burn out quickly. Asking the above question lets you get an idea of how candidates handle stress and how compatible they might be with your organization. Look for:

- Some positivity in the answer
- No disparaging/blaming others or being overly negative
- Accepting some responsibility in the situation

A good answer might be, "I find that the most difficult clients are those who have given up. That is, they've been failed by others and the system so many times that it feels like I can never reach them. They're a good reminder to myself that I need to remain curious and to approach issues from multiple angles because all clients deserve my best."

Why did you go into social work?

People go into social work for different reasons, and asking about their motivations lets candidates talk about themselves and reveal background information that they might not be able to otherwise. Look for:

- Going beyond a generic "desire to help others"
- Specifics versus generalities
- A commitment to social work

An effective candidate could answer, "My grandfather died of cancer when I was 10, and the hospice nurses and social workers paved the way for him to die at home and on his own terms. That experience opened my eyes to how I could help others advocate for themselves."

What strategies do you use for crisis intervention?

Conflict is inevitable in any field of social work, and this question allows you to check that candidates' conflict-resolution skills fit what your organization is looking for. You can also
