Reproduction in Gymnosperms

Gymnosperms are seed-producing plants that do not have a flower and do not have an ovary. They have a single seed, which is called a seed cone. The seed cone is the female reproductive organ of the plant.

The seed cone is made up of several scales, which are called bracts. The scales are arranged in a spiral pattern around the seed. The seed is located at the base of the scales. The seed is protected by the scales, which are called the seed cone's protective covering.
