QUESTION 1

Various options are provided as possible answers to the following questions. Choose the correct answer and write ONLY the LETTER (A-D) next to the QUESTION NUMBER (1.1-1.6) on your folio paper. Example 1.7, D.

- 1.1 The graphs below show the relationship between the net force and the acceleration for two masses X and Y.

Which one of the following statements is true?

- A. Mass X is greater than mass Y.
B. The acceleration of mass X is greater than the acceleration of mass Y.
C. Mass Y is greater than mass X.
D. The acceleration of mass X is greater than the acceleration of mass Y.
- 1.2 In which of the following cases would the resultant force acting on an object be equal to 0N?
- A. A car moving with a constant speed.
B. A car moving with a constant speed in a circular path.
C. A car moving with a constant speed in a straight line.
D. A car moving with a constant speed in a circular path.
- 1.3 Which of the statements below best describes Weightlessness?
- A. An object is not acted upon by any forces.
B. An object is not acted upon by any forces.
C. An object is not acted upon by any forces.
D. An object is not acted upon by any forces.
- 1.4 The inertia of an object...
- A. is a measure of its mass.
B. is a measure of its resistance to change in motion.
C. is a measure of its resistance to change in motion.
D. is a measure of its resistance to change in motion.
- 1.5 An astronaut has a weight  $F_g$  on Earth. What distance, in terms of the radius of the Earth ( $r$ ), will the astronaut be if his weight is a 1/4 of his weight ( $F_g$ ) on the surface of the Earth?

- A.  $r$
B.  $2r$
C.  $3r$
D.  $4r$

- 1.6 A box is pushed forward with a force of 100N but does not move. A possible reason for this is that:

- A. The box is too heavy.
B. The box is too light.
C. The box is too smooth.
D. The box is too rough.

QUESTION 2

The grade 11 learners learn that there is more than one way to determine the resultant of two vectors. One way is the component method. They want to use this method to find the resultant of the forces acting on a bucket by the ropes from which the bucket is suspended. The bucket is stationary.

- 2.1 Draw the force diagram.

- 2.2 The tension in rope P is 100N at an angle of  $30^\circ$  to the vertical and the tension in Q is 51,52N at  $45^\circ$  to the vertical.

Calculate the MAGNITUDE of the:

- 2.2.1 Resultant of the components of P and Q horizontally.
2.2.2 Resultant of the components of P and Q vertically.
2.2.3 Resultant of the horizontal components.
2.2.4 Resultant of the vertical components.
2.2.5 Resultant of the forces acting on the bucket.

Cancer Systems Biology Ravi Salgia, Mohit Kumar Jolly, Prakash Kulkarni, Govindan Rangarajan, 2025-09-04 Over the centuries civilization has seen considerable advances in healthcare Cancer is among the most challenging healthcare issues that we face today but a number of discoveries have led to better care Despite all the progress and the promise regarding early detection and precision medicine we are still faced with the nettlesome problem cancer is a moving target Even within an individual tumour deep sequencing analyses now indicate multiple phenotypically distinct subpopulations whose representation seems to vary dramatically from one stage to the next as the tumour progresses Cancer Systems Biology provides state of the art reviews and thought provoking ideas in a concise and succinct manner This insightful textbook is a crosspollination of concepts from multiple disciplines and experimental approaches to study cancer The chapters provide new ideas and thoughts outlining how a quantitative picture of cancer can provide a deeper understanding of the disease and how a systems level perspective may hold the key to fully comprehend how cancer arises and progresses Written by experts in multiple disciplines including systems biologists science researchers physicists mathematicians and clinicians Cancer Systems Biology provides a comprehensive up to date treatise devoted to understanding cancer from a systems perspective Providing new conceptual insights that can aid precision medicine it will be essential reading for academic researchers in the field clinicians graduate students and scientists with an interest in cancer biology Engaging Curriculum Bill Green, 2017-09-18 Explicitly linking curriculum inquiry to English education via recurring themes of representation democracy and knowledge this book is a call for both researchers and practitioners to engage with curriculum explicitly and deliberatively as both a concept and a question The approach is broadly conceptual and constitutes an exercise in theoretical and philosophical inquiry While deeply informed by North American debates and developments this book offers a distinctive counterpoint and a strategically ex centric perspective being equally informed by the curriculum scene in Australia as well as the UK and elsewhere Divided into two sections this book first addresses matters of general curriculum inquiry while the second turns more specifically to English teaching and to associated questions of language literacy and literature in L1 education Green brings the two together through a critical examination of the Australian national curriculum especially in its implications and challenges for English teaching and with due regard for the project of transnational curriculum inquiry

Globalization Development and Social Justice Ann El Khoury, 2015-03-27 Are there existing alternatives to corporate globalization What are the prospects for and commonalities between communities and movements such as Occupy the World Social Forum and alternative economies Globalization Development and Social Justice advances the proposition that another globalization is not only possible but already exists It demonstrates that there are multiple pathways towards development with social justice and argues that enabling propositional agency rather than oppositional agency such as resistance is a more effective alternative to neoliberal globalization El Khoury develops a theory of infraglobalization that emphasizes creative constitution not just contestation of global and local processes The book features case studies and examples of diverse economic practice and innovative emergent political forms from the Global South and North These case studies are located in the informal social economy and community development as well as everyday practices from prefigurative politics to community cooperatives and participatory planning This book makes an important contribution to debates about the prospects for and practices of a transformative grassroots globalization and to critical debates about globalization and development strategies It will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations globalization social movement studies political and economic geography sociology anthropology and development studies One Nation Under Gold: How One Precious Metal Has Dominated the American Imagination for Four Centuries James Ledbetter, 2017-06-13 One Nation Under Gold examines the countervailing forces that have long since divided America whether gold should be a repository of hope or a damaging delusion that has long since derailed the rational investor Worshipped by Tea Party politicians but loathed by sane economists gold has historically influenced American monetary policy and has exerted an often outsized influence on the national psyche for centuries Now acclaimed business writer James Ledbetter explores the tumultuous history and larger than life personalities from George Washington to Richard Nixon behind America's volatile relationship to this hallowed metal and investigates what this enduring obsession reveals about the American identity Exhaustively researched and expertly woven One Nation Under Gold begins with the nation's founding in the 1770s when the new republic erupted with bitter debates over the implementation of paper currency in lieu of metal coins Concerned that the colonies' thirteen separate currencies would only lead to confusion and chaos some Founding Fathers believed that a national currency would not only unify the fledgling nation but provide a perfect solution for a country that was believed to be lacking in natural silver and gold resources Animating the Wild West economy of the nineteenth century with searing insights Ledbetter brings to vivid life the actions of Whig president Andrew Jackson one of gold's most passionate advocates whose vehement protest against a standardized national currency would precipitate the nation's first feverish gold rush Even after the establishment of a national paper currency the virulent political divisions continued reaching unprecedented heights at the Democratic National Convention in 1896 when presidential aspirant William Jennings Bryan delivered the legendary Cross of Gold speech that electrified an entire convention floor stoking the fears of his agrarian supporters While Bryan never amassed a wide enough constituency to propel his cause into the White House America's stubborn attachment to gold persisted wreaking so much havoc that FDR in order to help rescue the moribund Depression economy ordered a ban on private ownership of gold in 1933 In fact so entrenched was the belief that gold should uphold the almighty dollar it was not until 1973 that Richard Nixon ordered that the dollar be delinked from any relation to gold completely overhauling international economic policy and cementing the dollar's global significance More intriguing is the fact that America's exuberant fascination with gold has continued long after Nixon's historic decree as in the profusion of late night television ads that appeal to goldbug speculators that proliferate even into the present One Nation Under Gold reveals as much about American economic history as it does about the sectional divisions that continue to cleave our nation ultimately becoming a unique history about economic irrationality and its influence on the American psyche

Human Rights Law and Evidence-Based Policy Rosemary Byrne, Han Entzinger, 2019-12-06 The EU Fundamental Rights Agency FRA was established to provide evidence based policy advice to EU institutions and Member States By blending social science research with traditional normative work it aims to influence human rights policy processes through new ways of framing empirical realities The contributors to this volume critically examine the experience of the Agency in its first decade exploring FRA's historical political and legal foundations and its evolving record across major strands of EU fundamental rights Central themes arising from these chapters include consideration of how the Agency manages the tension between a mandate to advise and the more traditional approach of human rights bodies to monitor and how its research impacts the delicate equilibrium between these two contesting roles FRA's experience as the first embedded human rights agency is also highlighted suggesting a role for alternative and less oppositional orientations for human rights research While authors observe the benefits of the technocratic approach to human rights research that is a hallmark of FRA's evidence based policy advice they also note its constraints FRA's policy work requires a continued awareness of political realities in Brussels Member States and civil society Consequently the complex process of determining the Agency's research agenda reflects the strategic priorities of key actors This is an important factor in the Agency's role in the EU human rights landscape This pioneering position of the Agency should invite reflection on new forms of institutionalized human rights research for the future

Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation

Introducing a New Economics Jack Reardon, Maria Alejandra Caporale Madi, Molly Scott Cato, 2017-11-20 Introducing a New Economics is a groundbreaking textbook that heralds a revolution in the teaching of economics Students and lecturers alike are rejecting the narrow curricula and lack of intellectual diversity that characterise the mainstream. They demand that the real world should be brought back into the classroom insisting that this is the only way to confront the current crisis. With a firm commitment to theoretical, methodological and disciplinary pluralism, the renowned authors of this book challenge the current hegemony head on. This unique textbook reflects a new ethos of economics education highlighting sustainability and justice in its discussion of work, employment, power, capital, markets, money and debt. This volume is a work of progressive heterodox economics that will set the standard for years to come.

The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages Lutz Marten, Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Nancy C. Kula, Jochen Zeller, 2025-08-19. This volume brings together leading scholars from Africa, Europe, the Americas and beyond to provide a detailed account of the languages of the Bantu family, which cover an area from Cameroon and Kenya in the north to South Africa in the south. The Bantu family is part of the Niger-Congo phylum and one of the world's biggest language groups, comprising around 500 languages. The family includes major languages with large numbers of speakers such as Zulu, Kinyarwanda and Swahili, the most widely spoken and taught African language, as well as many community languages and several endangered languages. Bantu languages feature prominently in the complex and multilingual language ecologies that are characteristic of the linguistic situation in much of Africa, and they provide rich evidence for the study of theoretical and comparative linguistics, language contact and language change. They play an important role in education, commerce, culture and artistic expression in the media and public discourse in governance and social justice, and are central to the future of the continent and the well-being of its communities. The first part of The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages provides background and context with chapters exploring the history of research in the field, language and prehistory in Bantu-speaking Africa, and typology and variation. Chapters in the second part offer broad comparative overviews of Bantu phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics and pragmatics, socio- and applied linguistics. Before Parts III-VII cover more specific topics in Bantu linguistics across a variety of subfields ranging from structural issues such as the augment and melodic tone to historical and sociolinguistic topics such as Bantu languages in the diaspora and language policy and standardization. The chapters in the final part offer individual structural overviews of a range of languages from across the Bantu-speaking area. The book will be an essential resource for students and researchers specializing in the Bantu languages and for typologists and comparative linguists more broadly.
