Parts of an informal report

Reports are written for many different reasons and use two basic formats. One is the long or formal report and the short or informal report. But EVERY report, like every letter, essay, or article has 3 main parts: Introduction, Discussion sections, Conclusion. These reports follow the same format as the memo but are longer and more comprehensive. Because they are longer than one or two pages, reports also include such formatting elements as headings, bulleted or numbered lists, and graphs and charts or tables.

Introduction

The introductory section includes 3 parts:

1. a statement of the problem or situation,
2. the task assigned to the writer and the scope of the project,
3. purpose of the report and forecasts for the reader the topics of the report.

(PLEASE REFER TO OUTLINE SECTION I. INTRODUCTION)

Finally, when appropriate, the introduction ends with the conclusion or recommendation reached by the writer.

Discussion Sections

Another aspect of report writing that is somewhat different from other business communications is the reading patterns of various audiences. Remember that most memos and reports have a target audience, but a number of secondary audiences who must be accommodated. Some of the readers will skim the report. In other words, the report, particularly the discussion sections, may not be read in a linear way—from the first word progressing to the last. Therefore, the writer must be certain the report is comprehensible when read in that manner. Each section must work together as part of the whole report, but a reader should be able to read one section and understand the context. Anytime you use a list, or graphic or visual representation, you should introduce that list or visual and explain its purpose to the audience.

(PLEASE REFER TO OUTLINE SECTIONS II-VI)
