

Our commitment to voice

The goal of our Community Standards is to create a place for expression and give people a voice. Meta wants people to be able to talk openly about the issues that matter to them, whether through written comments, photos, music, or other artistic mediums, even if some may disagree or find them objectionable. In some cases, we allow content—which would otherwise go against our standards—if it's newsworthy and in the public interest. We do this only after weighing the public interest value against the risk of harm, and we look to international human rights standards to make these judgments. In other cases, we may remove content that uses ambiguous or implicit language when additional context allows us to reasonably understand that the content goes against our standards.

Our commitment to expression is paramount, but we recognize the internet creates new and increased opportunities for abuse. For these reasons, when we limit expression, we do it in service of one or more of the following values:

AUTHENTICITY

We want to make sure the content people see on Facebook is authentic. We believe that authenticity creates a better environment for sharing, and that's why we don't want people using Facebook to misrepresent who they are or what they're doing.

SAFETY

We're committed to making Facebook a safe place. We remove content that could contribute to a risk of harm to the physical security of persons. Content that threatens people has the potential to intimidate, exclude or silence others and isn't allowed on Facebook.

PRIVACY

We're committed to protecting personal privacy and information. Privacy gives people the freedom to be themselves, choose how and when to share on Facebook and connect more easily.

DIGNITY

We believe that all people are equal in dignity and rights. We expect that people will respect the dignity of others and not harass or degrade others.

Regulating Speech in Cyberspace Emily B.

Laidlaw, 2015-08-07 Private companies exert considerable control over the flow of information on the internet Whether users are finding information with a search engine communicating on a social networking site or accessing the internet through an ISP access to participation can be blocked channelled edited or personalised Such gatekeepers are powerful forces in facilitating or hindering freedom of expression online This is problematic for a human rights system which has historically treated human rights as a government responsibility and this is compounded by the largely light touch regulatory approach to the internet in the West Regulating Speech in Cyberspace explores how these gatekeepers operate at the intersection of three fields of study regulation more broadly law corporate social responsibility and human rights It proposes an alternative corporate governance model for speech regulation one that acts as a template for the increasingly common use of non state based models of governance for human rights *Digital Human Modeling and Applications in Health, Safety, Ergonomics and Risk Management. Your Post has been Removed Frederik Stjernfelt, Anne Mette Lauritzen, 2019-11-21 This open access monograph argues established democratic norms for freedom of expression should be implemented on the internet Moderating policies of tech companies as Facebook Twitter and Google have resulted in posts being removed on an industrial scale While this moderation is often encouraged by governments on the pretext that terrorism bullying pornography hate speech and fake news will slowly disappear from the internet it enables tech companies to censor our society It is the social media companies who define what is blacklisted in their community standards And given the dominance of social media in our information society we run the risk of outsourcing the definition of our principles for discussion in the public domain to private companies Instead of leaving it to social media companies only to take action the authors argue democratic institutions should take an active role in moderating criminal content on the internet To make this possible tech companies should be analyzed whether they are approaching a monopoly Antitrust legislation should be applied to bring those monopolies within democratic governmental oversight Despite being in different stages in their lives Anne Mette is in the startup phase of her research career while Frederik is one of the most prolific philosophers in Denmark the authors found each other in their concern about Free Speech on the internet The book was originally published in Danish as Dit opslag er blevet fjernet techgiganter ytringsfrihed Praise for Your Post has been Removed From my perspective both as a politician and as private book collector this is the most important non fiction book of the 21st Century It should be disseminated to all European citizens The learnings of this book and the use we make of them today are crucial for every man woman and child on earth Now and in the future Jens Rohde member of the European Parliament for the Alliance of Liberals and Democrats for Europe This timely book compellingly presents an impressive array of information and analysis about the urgent threats the tech giants pose to the robust freedom of speech and access to information that are essential for individual liberty and democratic self government It constructively explores potential strategies for restoring individual control over information flows to and about us Policymakers worldwide should take heed Nadine Strossen Professor New York Law School Author HATE Why We Should Resist It with Free Speech Not Censorship Digital Spaces of Civic Communication Anne Mollen, 2019-08-20 This book addresses the socio technical constitution of civic communication in increasingly digital democracies Despite problematic phenomena like hate speech in online commenting it argues that citizens potential for resisting technological inscriptions in digital media remains a fundamental democratic right While producers inscribe anticipations for how people should be discussing political issues into commenting interfaces citizens still resist these technological inscriptions in their commenting practices This dialectic interrelation between interfaces and practices highlights the inadequacy of purely technological solutions for undemocratic tendencies in digital media
