1980s our nation began to grapple with the legacy of past disposal practices for toxic chemicals With the passage in 1980 of the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act CERCLA commonly known as Superfund it became the law of the land to remediate these sites The U S Department of Defense DoD the nation s largest industrial organization also recognized that it too had a legacy of contaminated sites Historic operations at Army Navy Air Force and Marine Corps facilities ranges manufacturing sites shipyards and depots had resulted in widespread contamination of soil groundwater and sediment While Superfund began in 1980 to focus on remediation of heavily contaminated sites largely abandoned or neglected by the private sector the DoD had already initiated its Installation Restoration Program in the mid 1970s In 1984 the DoD began the Defense Environmental Restoration Program DERP for contaminated site assessment and remediation Two years later the U S Congress codified the DERP and directed the Secretary of Defense to carry out a concurrent program of research development and demonstration of innovative remediation technologies As chronicled in the 1994 National Research Council report Ranking Hazardous Waste Sites for Remedial Action our early estimates on the cost and suitability of existing technologies for cleaning up contaminated sites were wildly optimistic Original estimates in 1980 projected an average Superfund cleanup cost of a mere 3 Federal Register ,1958 Publications of the National Bureau
