

Cormac McCarthy's The Road

Study Guide

If you given a quest to track the life of author Cormac McCarthy, you need to start in grade.

McCarthy, whose character was stamped early by the brutal force of Appalachian culture, won't help you.

He has only a few lines his inner circle and grants precious few interviews. The New York Times has tried and failed repeatedly.

In June, after McCarthy's "The Road" won a Pulitzer Prize, Oprah Winfrey snugged his first television talk. She barely touched him, peeling back little of the real man, his soul or his purpose.

He isn't a craftsman who comes to you gently. No, this is a brawl. His characters both their way in badly. McCarthy creates people who are not so much born as spawned, entering the world by blood trauma. In McCarthy's world, brother-hung in blood and Soviet county comes like characters on paper. As children, Dennis McCarthy says he and his brother explored caves and swamped woods. They spent days on the rivers, hunting and fishing. "We took hidden (or killed animals) and sold them in Knoxville," he said.

McCarthy graduated from Catholic High School in Knoxville in 1950, and attended the University of Tennessee from 1951-52. He joined the U.S. Air Force in 1953 and returned to UT from 1957-59, but then left the academic world for good.

In 1960, he moved to Chicago, where he worked as an auto mechanic, while writing his first novel. He married Ray Holliman, also a former student at UT. They later settled in Service County with their son, Cullen, but the marriage ended in divorce.

In 1965, shortly before publications of the book, McCarthy won an American Academy of Arts and Letters grant. He used the funds to travel to Europe, about the ocean liner Sylvania. There he met De
