Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i e extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation

Departing from Tradition Jay Bidal, Evelyn Doman, 2016-05-11 English language teaching methods and language learning styles have changed dramatically over the past decade in Asia and the surrounding regions Huge efforts are being made by teachers from the K 12 system as well as at the tertiary level to move away from the traditional Grammar Translation Method towards more communicative approaches to teaching and learning including the use of project and task based learning and technology enhanced language learning just to name a few of the more frequently used methodologies In this book the authors shed light on the changes in ELT in Asia and the region over the past 10 years or so as seen in the wider context of language policy which puts greater value on the acquisition of English and the new directions in learner centered classrooms which encourage student autonomy and voice and place students as active decision makers in the learning process With the title of Departing from Tradition Innovations in English Language Teaching and Learning this book showcases some of the innovations in ELT that are currently happening in this rapidly growing field Given the growing importance of English and the enormous energy and enthusiasm in the region for learning the language in both formal and informal contexts ELT will continue to flourish This volume will offer insights into the tremendous changes that have been made in secondary and university English language classrooms across the region Handbook of Research on Building, Growing, and Sustaining Quality E-Learning Programs Shelton, Kaye, Pedersen, Karen, 2016-09-12 As e learning has evolved into a global change agent in higher education it has become more diverse in its form and applications Now that many institutions have implemented e learning programs as part of their course offerings it is essential for these institutions to fully grasp how best to facilitate continued improvements and accessibility in online education The Handbook of Research on Building Growing and Sustaining Quality E Learning Programs highlights several significant elements of e learning including program planning quality standards and online course development as well as institutional student and faculty support Serving as a critical resource for online and hybrid learning programs this publication is designed for use by administrators educators instructional designers and doctorate level students in the field of education Epistemic Justice and the Postcolonial University Amrita Pande, Ruchi Chaturvedi, Shari Daya, Sepideh Azari, Koni Benson, Hal Cooper, Kerusha Govender, Shose Kessi, Nomusa Makhubu, Athambile Masola, Lungisile Ntsebeza, Jameelah Omar, Kealeboga Ramaru, Ari Sitas, Rike Sitas, 2023-08-01 This book addresses urgent current debates on decolonisation by offering reimagined teaching and learning interventions for obtaining greater epistemic justice in the contemporary postcolonial university At a time when debates on decolonisation have gained urgency in academic civic and public spaces this interdisciplinary collection by authors based at the University of Cape Town South Africa serves as a valuable archive documenting and reflecting on a turbulent period in South African higher education It is an important resource for academics looking to grasp debates on decoloniality both in South Africa and in university and teaching spaces further afield Calling for concerted and collaborative work towards greater epistemic justice across diverse disciplines the book puts forward a new vision of the postcolonial university as one that enables excellent teaching and learning undertaken in a spirit of critical consciousness and reciprocity

Pioneers of the Field Andrew Bank, 2016-08-11 Focusing on the crucial contributions of women researchers Andrew Bank demonstrates that the modern school of social anthropology in South Africa was uniquely female dominated The book traces the personal and intellectual histories of six remarkable women through the use of a rich cocktail of archival sources including family photographs private and professional correspondence field notes and field diaries published and other public writings and even love letters The book also sheds new light on the close connections between their personal lives their academic work and their anti segregationist and anti apartheid politics It will be welcomed by anthropologists historians and students in African studies interested in the development of social anthropology in twentieth century Africa as well as by students and researchers in the field of gender studies

Undoing Modernity Catherine R. Rhodes, 2025-01-07 An ethnography of the decolonization of Maya ness On the Yucatan Peninsula today undergraduates are inventing a new sense of being Maya by studying linguistics and culture in their own language Maya In this bold theoretical intervention informed by ethnographic research Catherine Rhodes argues that these students are undoing the category of modernity itself Created through colonization of the Americas modernity is the counterpart to coloniality the students Rhodes suggests are creating decoloniality's companion demodernity Disciplines like linguistics anthropology history and archaeology invented the Maya as an essentialized ethnos in a colonial modern mold Undoing Modernity follows students and their teachers as they upset the seemingly stable ethnic definition of Maya with its reliance on a firm dichotomy of Maya and modern Maya linguistics does not prove that Maya is modern but instead rejects the Maya ness that modernity built while also fostering within the university an intellectual space in which students articulate identity on their own terms An erudite and ultimately hopeful work of interdisciplinary scholarship that brings linguistic anthropology Mesoamerican studies and critical Indigenous studies into the conversation Undoing Modernity dares to imagine the world on the other side of colonial modern ideals of Indigeneity

Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science David Ludwig, Inkeri Koskinen, Zinhle Mncube, Luana Poliseli, Luis Reyes-Galindo, 2021-07-29 In bringing together a global community of philosophers Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science develops novel perspectives on epistemology and philosophy of science by demonstrating how frameworks from academic philosophy e.g. standpoint theory social epistemology feminist philosophy of science and related fields e.g. decolonial studies transdisciplinarity global history of science can contribute to critical engagement with global dimensions of knowledge and science Global challenges such as climate change food production and infectious diseases raise complex questions about scientific knowledge production and its interactions with local knowledge systems and social realities As academic philosophy provides relatively little reflection on global negotiations of knowledge many pressing scientific and societal issues remain disconnected from core debates in epistemology and philosophy of science This book is an invitation to broaden agendas of academic philosophy by presenting epistemology and philosophy of science as globally engaged fields that address heterogeneous forms of knowledge production and their interactions with local livelihoods practices and worldviews This integrative ambition makes the book equally relevant for philosophers and interdisciplinary scholars who are concerned with methodological and political challenges at the intersection of science and society

Law, Obligation, Community Daniel Matthews, Scott Veitch, 2018-06-27 Against an ever expanding and diversifying rights talk this book re opens the question of obligation from not only legal but also ethical sociological and political perspectives Its premise is that obligation has a primacy ahead of rights because rights attach to practices and modes of being that are already saturated with obligations Obligations thus lie at the core not just of law but of community Yet the distinctive meanings range and situations of obligation have tended to remain under theorised in legal scholarship In response this book examines the sense in which we are multiply bound beings to law and legal institutions as much as we are to place community memory and the various social institutions that give shape to collective life Sharing this set of concerns each of the international group of scholars contributing to this volume traces the specificity of the binding force of obligations their techniques and modes of expression as well as their centrally important role in giving form to lawful relations Together they provide an innovative and challenging contribution to legal scholarship one that will also be of relevance to those working in politics philosophy and social theory
