Classroom: "There is an element in the periodic table that does not want to be included. Actually, this element is 'invisible.' He can't be included in the standard classification being used. He is just like the others up until it comes to table it. However, he is afraid to be included in it because he has all these nice molecules and compounds he can be in. Therefore, including the periodic table he will cause others to immediately feel like they are elements that do not belong and that means he is a reference to get the real one. He is just like just one molecule in all of the other and molecules that follow. There is nothing else going on in the world."
