Matching- Population Statistics

1. b Crude Birth Rate (CBR)
 2. f Crude Death Rate (CDR)
 3. g Natural Increase Rate (NIR)
 4. a Doubling Time
 5. c Total Fertility Rate (TFR)
 6. h Infant Mortality Rate (IMR)
 7. e Life Expectancy
 8. i Dependency Ratio
 9. d Sex Ratio
- a. The number of years needed to double a population assuming a constant rate of natural increase.
 - b. Total number of live births in a year for every 1,000 people alive in the society.
 - c. Measure the number of births in a society.
 - d. Number of males per hundred females in the population.
 - e. Measures the average number of years a newborn infant can expect to live at current mortality rates.
 - f. Total number of deaths in a year for every 1,000 people alive in a society.
 - g. Percentage by which a population grows in a year. Subtract CDR from CBR after converting the number to percentages.
 - h. Annual number of deaths of infants under one year of age, compared with total live births.
 - i. Number of people who are too young or too old to work, compared to the number of people in productive years.

Which of the above population statistics would be higher in an LDC?

In a less developed country there would be a high infant mortality rate and most likely a high crude birth rate and high crude death rates (IMR because there is not high tech to prevent deaths of new born babies) (CBR because people are mostly in the agricultural economy so they will have more children to work on their family farms / low education opportunities for women resulting in higher births) (CDR because there is not advanced medicines and technology to prevent it.)

Which of the above population statistics would be higher in an MDC?

in more developed countries the life expectancy would be higher because there is higher levels of tech to extend ones life (and more people have access to it)

MAKE SURE YOU UNDERSTAND WHY?!

Fill in the blank- What type of density are each of these?

2. arithmetical density Density is the total number of people divided by total land area.
3. agricultural density Density is the ratio of the number of farmers to the amount of arable land.

 - a. Example of a country? China, India - to reduce number of births
 - b. Example of a method? 1 child policies
2. pro-natalist policies - Population policies where a government tries to increase fertility
 - a. Example of a country? Korea, Japan - has an aging population so need to encourage more births
