

The Personal Statement

In reading your application, we want to get to know you as well as we can. There's a limit to what grades and test scores can tell us so we ask you to write a personal statement.

Your personal statement is your chance to tell us who you are and what's important to you. Think of it as your opportunity to introduce yourself to the admissions and scholarship officers reading your application. Be open, be honest, be real. What you tell us in your personal statement gives readers the context to better understand the rest of the information you've provided in your application.

A couple of tips: Read each prompt carefully and be sure to respond to all parts. Use specific, concrete examples to support the points you want to make. Finally, relax. This is one of many pieces of information we consider in reviewing your application; an admission decision will not be based on your personal statement alone.

Instructions and Prompts

- Respond to both prompts, using a maximum of 1,000 words total.
- You may allocate the word count as you wish. If you choose to respond to one prompt at greater length, we suggest your shorter answer be no less than 250 words.
- Stay within the word limit as closely as you can. A little over — 1,012 words, for example — is fine.

Prompt #1 (freshman applicants)

Describe the world you come from — for example, your family, community or school — and tell us how your world has shaped your dreams and aspirations.

Prompt #1 (transfer applicants)

What is your intended major? Discuss how your interest in the subject developed and describe any experience you have had in the field — such as volunteer work, internships and employment, participation in student organizations and activities — and what you have gained from your involvement.

Prompt #2 (all applicants)

Tell us about a personal quality, talent, accomplishment, contribution or experience that is important to you. What about this quality or accomplishment makes you proud and how does it relate to the person you are?

Doing Our Own Thing John McWhorter,2004-09-09 McWhorter is a gifted young linguist who seeks to understand the change in our verbal habits rather than just bemoan it and his analysis is insightful richly documented and yes eloquently written Steven Pinker author of The Blank Slate and The Language Instinct In Doing Our Own Thing critically acclaimed linguist and cultural critic John McWhorter traces the precipitous decline of language in contemporary America arguing persuasively that casual everyday speech has conquered the formal in all arenas from oratory to poetry to everyday journalism and has even had dire consequences for our musical culture McWhorter argues that the swift and startling change in written and oral communication emanated from the countercultural revolution of the 1960s and its ideology that established forms and formality were autocratic and artificial While acknowledging that the evolution of language is in and of itself inevitable and often benign he warns that the near total loss of formal expression in America is unprecedented in modern history and has reached a crisis point in our culture such that our very ability to convey ideas and arguments effectively is gravely threatened By turns compelling and harrowing passionate and judicious Doing Our Own Thing is required reading for all concerned about the state of our language and the future of intellectual life in America

The Limits of Diversity Esther Chan, 2025-12-16 Shows that universities diversity efforts may inadvertently reproduce inequality Across universities and colleges diversity is a purported value often accompanied with commitments to equity and inclusion But how do universities approaches to diversity affect their efforts to make equitable and inclusive environments The Limits of Diversity compares perspectives of diversity and inclusion among diversity student leaders Asian Americans and LGBTQ students at two college campuses one secular and one evangelical It argues that secular and religious universities reproduce inequality along multiple lines of social difference through the language and practices of diversity Though their promotion of diversity may be well intentioned in practice their approaches reproduce social inequality The volume offers empirical research on key flash points around diversity to illuminate how our current understandings of diversity are failing and how we can improve and help universities to embrace more equitable approaches In a post affirmative action world scholars and activists are beset with the difficult task of re imagining diversity and creating alternatives to diversity that can lead to social equity in college settings Chan shows that approaches to diversity that do not center equity fall short The student narratives presented in The Limits of Diversity challenge us to think about what diverse equitable and inclusive universities can look like
