Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were 15 men, 40 to 50 years old, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular disease. They were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of 30 minutes of aerobic exercise, 3 times a week, at 70% of the maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and at the end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training program significantly increased the HR and HRR of the subjects. The HR increased from 72 to 78 beats per minute (b·min⁻¹) and the HRR increased from 28 to 34 b·min⁻¹. The control group did not show any significant changes in HR or HRR. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary middle-aged men.
