The Politics of Nihilism Nitzan Lebovic,Roy Ben-Shai,2014-09-25 Contemporary politics is faced on the one hand with political stagnation and lack of a progressive vision on the side of formal institutional politics and on the other with various social movements that venture to challenge modern understandings of representation participation and democracy Interestingly both institutional and anti institutional sides of this antagonism tend to accuse each other of nihilism namely of mere oppositional destructiveness and failure to offer a constructive positive alternative to the status quo Nihilism seems then all engulfing In order to better understand this political situation and ourselves within it The Politics of Nihilism proposes a thorough theoretical examination of the concept of nihilism and its historical development followed by critical studies of Israeli politics and culture The authors show that rather than a mark of mutual opposition and despair nihilism is a fruitful category for tracing and exploring the limits of political critique rendering them less rigid and opening up a space of potentiality for thought action and creation

Mystic Moderns James H. Thrall, 2020-01-21 Mystic Moderns examines the responses of three British authors Evelyn Underhill 1875 1941 May Sinclair 1863 1946 and Mary Webb 1881 1927 to the emerging modernity of the long early twentieth century moment encompassing the First World War As they explored divergent but overlapping understandings of what mystical experience might be these authors rejected claims that modernity s celebration of the secular and rational left no place for the mystical rather they countered sensitivity to a greater reality could both establish and validate personal agency and was integral to their identities as modern women Their preoccupations with the dynamism of human connection drew on prevailing ideas of vital energy or life force developed by Arthur Schopenhauer and Henri Bergson in ways that channeled modernity's erotic energy of change By using their fiction to describe new self-authenticating forms of mysticism separate from either the prevailing orthodoxy of establishment Christianity or the extreme heterodoxy of their era's enthusiasm for paranormal experimentation they also contributed to the rise of a generic concept of spirituality Mystic Moderns thus offers historical perspective on contemporary claims for self-constructed non-institutional spiritual experience associated with the claim 'I'm spiritual not religious' Working as they did within the shadow of the First World War Underhill Sinclair and Webb were in the end attempting to determine what might be of authentic value for a modern age marked by ubiquitous death While not themselves utopian authors each was touched by her era's complicated hunger for the best of all possible worlds Their constructions of how an individual should be and act in the midst of modernity thus simultaneously projected visions of what that modernity itself should become
